Jugo-Slav Row Stalls Deal With Axis

REGENT UNABLE TO FIND CABINET THAT WILL SIGN

Thousands Protest Nazi Alliance.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, March 24, Monday (AP). — Jugo-Slav government leaders, beset by angry demonstrations thruout the kingdom, failed early today to complete a cabinet agreeable to capitulation to Adolf Hitler and thus their plans to sign with the axis in Vienna Tuesday were scrambled again.

Regent Prince Paul, his premier, Dragisha Tsvetkovitch, and his Foreign Minister, Aleksander Cincar-Markovitch, retired shortly after midnight without issuing an expected communique announcing that the cabinet crisis had been solved.

Instead a spokesman said "there will be nothing tonight"—and the lights and heat on the special train intended to carry the signatory delegation to Vienna were turned off.

Fail to Make Announcement.

Early Sunday evening it was reported the government, bowing to German pressure, had settled its troubles and the names of the new cabinet members chosen to fill three vacancies would be announced. But the hours passed with the three government chieftains still in conferences and finally they gave it up for the night without an announcement.

Authoritative sources said the government apparently was finding it almost impossible to get men to sign the capitulation document.

If Prince Paul succeeds in breaking the deadlock later this morning there still would be time for the train to reach Vienna for the signing Tuesday. But in view of the evidently increasing difficulties, government circles expressed doubt that the schedule would be kept.

Army Is Restless.

Tens of thousands of Jugo-Slav men and women paraded and sang in demonstrations against the projected pact.

The army itself was reported restless. High military quarters said young Serb officers especially showed "great discontent" over the alleged statement of the war minister to the cabinet that Jugo-Slavia must bow to Adolf Hitler because the army is not prepared to fight.

Another factor thrust into the turbulent situation was a report in authoritative diplomatic circles that Greece had warned Jugo-Slavia against giving Germany permission, as provided in the proposed pact, to send sealed trains across the country carrying war materials and wounded men. These circles said Greece informed Jugo-Slavia such permission would be a "hostile act." Sealed German trains, the Greeks were declared to have said, sooner or later probably would be carrying troops as well as supplies.

No Acts of Violence.

No acts of violence were reported from the towns and villages thruout Serbia, Croatia, and Slovenia in which demonstrations against the alliance occurred.

In some towns, the reports said, as many as 30,000 persons gathered in the streets, cheering the three ministers who resigned from the cabinet in protest against the projected capitulation to Germany and Italy. Thousands of peasants gave an ovation to one of the outgoing cabinet men, Minister of Agriculture Branko Cubrilovitch, when he arrived at his home town of Banja Luka.

The mayor of the town declared in a passionate address that Cubrilovitch was "one of the few men worthy to be called a Serb."

[The other two ministers who resigned were Dr. Sdrjan Budisavijevitch, social welfare, and Mihaljo Konstantinovitch, justice. They also are Serbs.]

Sing Serb Rebel Songs.

At Krogujevac, the center of a large Serb district, a crowd said to number 10,000 paraded the streets, singing old Serb rebel songs. Another crowd of 10,000 demonstrated at Skoplje, in southern Serbia near the Greek frontier.

Telegrams to Regent Prince Paul and Premier Tsvetkovitch from Jugo-Slavs all over the world, calling for resistance to the axis, flooded into the capital. Many Jugo-Slav societies in America sent messages of protest.

HARVESTER UNIT REOPENS TODAY

AFL Workers to March Thru Picket Lines.

American Federation of Labor workers announced yesterday they will march in a body to resume their jobs when the strike-closed McCormick works of the International Harvester company is reopened at 7 a.m. today. The plant, at 26th street and Western avenue, has been closed since Feb. 28 by a strike of the Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing committee [CIO].

Irving Brown.

Company officials announced their intention to reopen the plant in response to demands of workers after Judge John C. Lewe issued an injunction Saturday ordering the CIO to limit its pickets to 10 at each of the 10 gates of the plant.

4,000 Expected to Return.

The AFL union claims an overwhelming majority of the plant's 6,100 workers. AFL workers said at least 4,000 of the employés will walk thru the CIO picket line today.

Harry O'Reilly and Irving Brown, AFL organizers, spoke yesterday before a meeting of the union stewards at which it was agreed that the AFL forces will assemble at their union headquarters, 2504 South Claremont avenue, for the march to the plant.

John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, announced that 1,386 policemen have been assigned to enforce Judge Lewe's order and to prevent violence.

616 to Be on Duty at 5 A. M.

Prendergast and John Stege, supervising captain of the west side, will be in charge. They will have 616 men on hand at 5 a. m.

"If any man wants to go to work he will be given that opportunity by the police department," Prendergast said. "Nobody is going to stop any man from earning a living to support his family."

Grant Oakes, district chairman of the FEWOC, conferred with delegates from a number of CIO union locals at the Skyline club.

An order was issued there for strikers to assemble at 5:30 a. m. today at FEWOC headquarters at 2512 South Oakley avenue. Leaders said the rank and file would be given instructions at the headquarters.

Robert Travis, field representative of the FEWOC, told CIO delegates at the meeting to have their members in readiness for half holidays from their work in other industries so they could go on the picket line in the Harvester strike.

Opposite the McCormick works is the company's tractor works, which has been closed since Jan. 29 by a CIO strike.

Widow Gay and Confident on Eve of Trial as Mate's Killer

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Elizabethtown, Ill., March 23.—Mrs. Mildred S. Turley, the most recent of a long line of Hardin county women to dispose of a husband by gun shot, lounged merrily in jail here today, confident that this week will bring her freedom.

Tomorrow Mrs. Turley goes on trial before Judge Blaine Huffman in Circuit court, charged with the murder of her boyish husband, Roy Edward Turley, whom she shot last Aug. 26 in Lovers' Lane—a romantic wooded road that skirts the waters of the Ohio river a mile east of here.

Mrs. Turley, a tall, sinewy widow with wide blue eyes heavily fringed in black, is 35 years old. Her husband, whom she killed after four brief months of marriage, was 23. Her plea is one of accepted usage among self-made widows in Illinois—that of self-defense.

Town Bored with Affair.

Elizabethtown—population 500—an almost lost hamlet on the banks of the Ohio into which neither train nor telegraph penetrate, regards the trial with apathy. The gun toting woman of Hardin county long ago became tedious rather than novel. Hardly any one nowadays speaks with admiration of a woman who shoots her man.

In the past such widows spent little time in the old red brick chicken coop which the county jail appears to be. They remained at large on bond.

But Mrs. Turley went a touch farther beyond the law than the average. She failed to appear for trial on Jan. 7. Therefore, the court revoked her $10,000 bond, ordered her arrested and jailed.

This upset the county authorities. An entire half of the jail, a 10 by 5 cubicle, had to be set aside as woman's quarters and decorated in womanly fashion. The walls were painted a dove gray, new linoleum was placed on the floor and a new, soft mattress on the cot.

Brings Own Accessories.

When the widow—a former beauty operator in nearby Rosiclare who had set waves in half the feminine hair in the county—arrived, she brought more additions. She placed cozy hooked rugs on the floor, a gay patchwork quilt on the cot and a small white radio on the table. She even brought her own soap and a coffee pot to brew her beverage on top of the pot-bellied stove.

Today, her abundant black hair coiled in pin rolls beneath a blue bandana, as prospective curls for tomorrow, she received all callers gaily and sociably. Beside her was a stack of love story magazines, which she occasionally patted for affirmation.

"Not worried at all," she said blithely, adjusting pince nez glasses or her nose. "It will be a relief when it's over. In jail six weeks tomorrow.

"I sleep pretty good every night, too. I am no murderer."

Has 16 Year Old Daughter.

She married Turley on April 17, 1940, she said, and they separated in June, she going back to Harrisburg, where she has a 16 year old daughter by a former marriage.

"But he made frequent trips to see me," she explained.

As for the shooting, she says Turley took the gun from the glove compartment in his car to use on her. She snatched it from him.

"I shot him because I was mortally afraid," she insisted.

Many women whose heads she once dressed now defend her action. But none can explain why she left Turley dying in the road and drove 38 miles to Harrisburg. A truck driver found Turley just before he died.

Turley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Turley of Rosiclare, have hired Attorney D. L. Duty to assist the state in prosecuting the widow. She is being assisted, strangely enough, by the family of her first husband, Ingal C. Sewell, who was killed in a fluospar mine.

Canadian Aviation Plants Produce 40 Planes a Week

MONTREAL, Que., March 23 (AP).—Canadian aviation plants are producing approximately 40 military planes a week, Ralph Bell, director general of aircraft production, announced yesterday. About 7,000 skilled and semi-skilled workers are employed in local plane factories—Vickers, Fairchild, and Noorduyn.

CRIPPLED WARSHIP ON WAY TO NORFOLK FOR REPAIRS IN GOVERNMENT YARD

English Push Plane Production to 3,200 a Month.

What a Briton Thinks

LONDON, March 23 (AP).—Board of Trade President Oliver Lyttleton today told an Aldershot audience the United States' provision of arms and planes for Britain "is the most generous gesture that has ever been made."

He asked whether the British "should have found it in our hearts to give her [America] the help she is now giving us within such a short time" if the United States became involved in a war and answered, "I do not think so."

Of the world after this war, Lyttleton said no nation or alliance of nations could "engage upon any raids upon their neighbors" or disturb world peace "if they were faced by the great mass of English speaking people mated."

LONDON, March 23 (AP). — Britain announced today that huge four motored bombers had landed in England from the United States and that vast, hidden stores of bombers and fighters were ready to take to the air in the battle of Britain.

Lord Beaverbrook.

Secreted in "storage houses distributed everywhere" are the greatest reserves of bombers and fighter planes in history, Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production, declared.

He called it a "record surpassing anything that has gone before, anything in the history of aviation," and added that "this applies to fighters and bombers alike. Both types have reached the highest total in our history."

Produce 3,200 Planes a Month.

Altho the numbers of British planes are a secret, black headlines in the Sunday Chronicle proclaimed that Britain now is producing 3,200 of all types each month and that her production peak has not yet been reached.

The giant bombers from the United States have range enough to bring the remotest corners of German dominated territory into the royal air force's target area. The bombers are what the British call "Liberators"—produced by the Consolidated Aircraft corporation of San Diego, Cal.

[These planes are known in America as the B-24 bomber.]

These planes are said to have a range of 3,000 miles—enough to bomb any point in Italy, Germany, or Nazi occupied countries from RAF bases in England. They could fly nonstop from England to Egypt or from England to Sofia, Bulgaria, and back.

Other Types on Way, Too.

The air correspondent of the authoritative Press association said from the announcement it "might be assumed that four engined Boeing B 17s also are arriving in this country from America.

He added that he "understood 26 Consolidated Liberators are to be supplied to the RAF" and that it was "expected that six of these machines will be used as transport planes in which pilots who are ferrying bombers across the Atlantic will return to the United States to collect equipment for the RAF."

Lord Beaverbrook said close collaboration between the United States and Britain was the "crowning good" made possible by the war. A blessing of the war, he said, was "hope that when victory is won we shall enjoy a union of interest and purpose between two sundered fragments of the Anglo-Saxon race."

Join in Empire Day Prayers.

Millions of Britons joined today at the behest of King George VI. in an Empire day of prayer for divine favor in the battle of the Atlantic.

Special services were held in 30,000 Protestant and Roman Catholic churches in Britain and in thousands of other churches, temples, and mosques thruout the empire. King George, in the uniform of a field marshal, took Queen Elizabeth and their two daughters to worship in a small country church.

AMERICA TO PAY ITS WAR SHARE, EUROPE IS TOLD

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 23. —President Roosevelt was declared ready to help the British government enforce the British blockade against all Europe and guarantee the delivery of American armaments and supplies to British ports—in fact, everything was promised Britons except an early declaration of war.

This news came to Europe in a special broadcast from the United States by Herbert B. Elliston, British born American citizen of Washington, D. C.

Elliston spoke over a hookup of the British Broadcasting corporation last night and his speech was repeated today over BBC's short wave transmitter.

Elliston told how the Roosevelt administration and certain types of Americans are forcing the United States into the war on England's side. He asserted that from now on the United States is going to pay its share of the war cost and that Britain would not be obliged to liquidate any more of its assets in the United States or South America.

Makes Attack on Hoover.

This, Elliston said, was because "the American government realizes it must not only help win the war, but must do its part in maintaining peace after the war is over and does not want to weaken Britain financially."

Elliston attacked former President Hoover, denouncing his efforts to help feed the starving peoples of Europe. He said the American and British governments were united regarding the Hoover proposals to send France food as the edge of the wedge and "the Hooverites really aim to relax the blockade for all occupied and unoccupied Europe."

President Roosevelt, Elliston told his listeners, is not going to play the Hoover game, but is considering this relief in terms of war policy. The shipments to France, just authorized, Elliston said, had been permitted by England and America as an experiment and only in the hope that it might encourage the Vichy government to a more energetic resistance against Germany. He added, that Washington was going to continue to help rather than hinder the British blockade and was contemplating plugging what he termed "the biggest leak of all, thru Vladivostok."

Committee of War Strategy.

Elliston told English listeners to watch for another development in

NEW YORKERS WANT 'BUY BRITISH' DRIVE ON THE PART OF U. S.

New York, March 23 [Special].—Formation of another aid for Britain group called the New York Committee to Aid Britain by Reciprocal Trade was announced today. Its announced purpose is to make more dollars available to England by encouraging purchase of British goods in the United States. The slogan of the new group is "Buy Something British."

Members include Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman, wife of New York's governor; Clare Boothe, playwright; Dorothy Thompson, columnist; Clifton Fadiman, literary critic; Dr. William Allen Neilson, president emeritus of Smith college; Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, and Grover Whalen. The chairman is Christopher Emmet Jr., an author, who also is on the executive board of the New York chapter of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

The new committee asserted that its organization was founded last Thanksgiving in Portland, Ore., and that there are already 88 chapters thruout the country. It listed its aims as follows:

To increase public demand for British goods; to organize soon in New York a "Buy something British week"; to urge American retailers to stock British goods and display them prominently; to promote the steady flow of British merchandise to this country, and to keep alive the idea of reciprocal trade with "all free and friendly nations."

Charge Maneuvers to Get This Nation Into Conflict.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—Hostilities between interventionists and noninterventionists flamed anew tonight over reports of British maneuvers to get the United States into the war as a full fledged belligerent without further delay.

A British heavy cruiser was reported heading for the Norfolk, Va., navy yard for repairs under the terms of the dictator act authorizing overhaul of British warships in American ports. Whether the British warship had been damaged in a naval action with the two German cruisers and submarines reported by the British to be operating in the western Atlantic could not be learned.

Expected This Morning.

According to information from Norfolk the British warship is expected there tomorrow morning. Commander D. D. Mercer, naval attaché of the British consulate at Philadelphia, Pa., said he had been advised that a cruiser would arrive for repairs in the course of the next few weeks.

A Rome broadcast identified the damaged cruiser as the London, which, according to the authoritative "Jane's Fighting Ships," is a vessel of 9,850 tons. The British embassy here professed ignorance of any warship arriving for repairs.

Britons Survey Navy Yard.

A United States navy board accompanied by British naval officers recently surveyed all Atlantic coast navy yards and other port facilities to determine capacity for repairs of British warships. Arrangements were made for working shifts of mechanics 24 hours a day on such repair work.

British officials said that repairs of British warships in American ports had been sought because such work is impracticable in British yards, which are under daily attack by German aircraft and in which work cannot be carried on during the nightly blackouts. Opponents of the Roosevelt war program charged that the warships repair provision is just another device to get us into the war, for under international law a neutral that affords a belligerent haven for warships for more than 24 hours commits an act of war.

Look to U. S. to Save Them.

The noninterventionists also accused the British of seeking the convoy of cargoes of arms by American warships not because they need the supplies, but because they need the American navy to save them from defeat by the German air and sea forces. American ships convoying cargoes of arms would clash with German cruisers and submarines, whereupon the United States would become a de facto belligerent.

These accusations were being bandied on the eve of the passage tomorrow by the senate of the 7 billion dollar appropriation to carry into effect the dictator act.

"Britain's desperate need at the moment," said Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], "is the alignment of the American navy and air force with hers to withstand the terrific onslaught of German air and sea power. England is being subjected to a pulverizing bombing that she is powerless to prevent with her present air strength. German bombers and submarines are sinking cargo ships bound for Britain faster than they can be replaced.

Sees Britain Facing Defeat.

"It is evident that as the war is now going Britain will be defeated without the help of our navy and air force, perhaps even with it. Hence the British are maneuvering with all their astuteness to get us fully into the war without delay. They are bringing pressure to bear upon the President to order our navy to convoy arms cargoes to the British Isles. Such an order by the President would bring us into the war completely the moment that our convoying warships were fired upon by German warships.

"The effort of the British government to influence us to send our navy to their rescue is all too palpable. Prime Minister Churchill stresses the present phase of the war as 'the battle of the Atlantic,' in which, the implication is, the United States must be vitally interested. He essays to frighten us with reports of German submarines and cruisers operating on this side of the ocean. He stresses the havoc wrought by German bombers on land and by German submarines at sea.

BRITISH SENDING CRUISER TO U. S. FOR WAR REPAIRS

Accused of Maneuvers to Put Us Into Conflict.

"The fact that the British have troops and adequate military material so far afield as Africa and the eastern Mediterranean indicates that they have a sufficient number of troops and sufficient military material at home for defense of the British Isles from invasion. Our information is that their arms factories, operating day and night, are producing all the material that is needed for defense.

"The fact is that Britain does not need arms from this country so much as she needs our navy and air force to defend her from the Germans. Hence the convoying of arms cargoes by the American navy is being sought by the British merely as a pretext for getting us into the war completely as soon as our convoying warships are fired upon by the Germans."

Senator Brooks' Stand.

Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] will adjure the administration leaders to use their influence with the President to keep the country out of complete involvement in the war. He charged that Great Britain is influencing the American government to convoy arms cargoes because such action would bring our navy into collision with the German navy and hence would get us into the war with our man power in defense of England.

"The steps taken to involve us in the war are very plain," said Senator Brooks. "The neutrality act was passed to keep us out of war. The proponents of the bill said it would. The first step to make possible our participation in the war was the repeal of the arms embargo provision of the neutrality act.

Concerning Those Bases.

"Then came the deal whereby 50 of our destroyers were given to Great Britain in exchange for nothing except the right to negotiate for military bases in British possessions and to buy land therefor which we won't own but will only lease when we get it.

"But this was not enough. A great degree of our engagement in the war was desired. So the bill vesting the President with the power of a dictator to lend, lease, and give away virtually unlimited quantities of our existing army and navy equipment and arms currently being manufactured or yet to be produced was brought forward.

"The sponsors of the bill in congress averred that there was no intention of employing American warships to convoy arms cargoes to the belligerents. Yet they defeated an amendment to forbid such convoy.

"The next step was the 7 billion dollar appropriation bill to carry out the terms of the lend-lease act, the largest peace time appropriation bill in our history. It will be passed without the change of a comma since it came from the White House. It represents the complete surrender of congress to the executive both in the form of the program and the amount of the expenditure in aid of Britain.

Contrast in Economizing.

"We are cutting expenditures on our own army and navy but we are not reducing so much as one dollar of the outlay asked by the President for Britain. Incidentally it appears that while the lend-lease act provides for aiding any nations whose defense the President deems essential to our own defense, the only arms we are producing and the only facilities for the production of arms we are constructing are for Great Britain."

With the passage of the 7 billion dollar appropriation the all-out effort of the United States in aid of Britain will be effectively implemented, Brooks said.

"A succession of executive orders may be expected," the senator went on. "Some will carry into effect the 7 billion dollar appropriation. Some will provide for secrecy of operations. Some will pertain to industrial processes.

"Then will come the President's order to employ our warships in convoying American, British, and other merchant ships loaded with arms and other military supplies consigned to Britain and Greece. That will mean our complete involvement in the war without a formal declaration of war."

Report British Cruiser Near U. S.

A British cruiser of the London class (above) last night was reported heading for the Norfolk, Va., navy yard for repairs.

Convoys May Leave U. S. Ports

Baltimore, Md., March 23 [Special]. —The Baltimore Sun, commenting tonight on reports that a British cruiser is headed for Norfolk, Va., navy yards for repairs, said:

"Local ship repair officials who knew of the ship's expected arrival said that she draws too much water to be handled in Baltimore harbor.

"At the same time they let it be known that they have plans to handle repairs to light cruisers, destroyers, auxiliaries, and convoy escort craft in general.

"The Norfolk yard has plans in readiness to speed such repairs to completion by working 24 hours a day.

Signal for Replacements.

"The indications are that the first craft to be repaired here are even now on their way across the Atlantic serving as escorts of convoys moving light to American ports to pick up munitions of war.

"Moreover, the arrival here of British warships will be the signal for the speeding of the transfer of American naval vessels for replacements.

"It is said that crews from the ships undergoing repairs will be transferred immediately to the American warcraft made available to the British.

"The craft of the royal navy are described as having taken bad beatings of late with enforced runs at high speed and continuous escort duty; the wear and tear has been much greater than in normal operations.

Escorts from U. S. Ports.

"Authoritative sources here declare that the program contemplates moving convoys out of principal American ports for British destinations instead of from Canadian ports.

"As the warships are repaired they can move out with merchantmen and escort them over divers routes to England, thus forcing the Germans to spread out their efforts so thin that it will be ineffective as compared with the concentration they now center on the lanes from Halifax east."

CELEBRATE 50TH ANNIVERSARY.

Bloomington, Ill., March 23 [Special].—Mr. and Mrs. George E. Klick of Latham today held open house in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. Klick, 74 years old, is widely known in central Illinois as a farmer and landowner. In 1918 he operated 2,600 acres.

AMERICA TO PAY ITS WAR SHARE, BRITAIN IS TOLD

Other Promises Made by Broadcast from U. S.

Washington. He said America's virtual alliance with the British war effort had resulted in the formation of a war cabinet and soon there would be appointed a committee of strategy behind this cabinet. From now on, he declared, the American government would have no foreign relations —only war strategy—and the American government is conducting a war without a declaration of war.

The request for 7 billion dollars was a piece of Roosevelt's strategy, Elliston declared. When the bill goes thru Elliston said Roosevelt will be able to turn everything to England and if England should like to help the Turks, then they will get help.

Elliston gave the BBC audience to understand that the 7 billion dollars really was a British war appropriation and it was America's mite toward winning. He also said the sum was aimed to have world-wide repercussions, especially in the Balkan states.

President Roosevelt already has been sending to England everything he could, and after saying the war is now America's battle, Elliston told listeners not to worry about the growing losses to British shipping. American sentiment, he said, was not going to stand by and permit loaned and leased war materials to be sunk in the Atlantic, and asserted the United States would undertake measures to insure delivery.

SPOKE FROM NEW YORK.

Elliston spoke by trans-Atlantic telephone to London from where his message was broadcast, Gerald Cook, American representative of the British Broadcasting corporation, said in New York last night.

Elliston recently was named editor of The Washington Post, which is owned by Eugene Meyer. Meyer was appointed last Wednesday to President Roosevelt's strike mediation board. Elliston formerly was financial editor of the Christian Science Monitor and had been an editorial writer for the New York Herald.

He was born in Wakefield, Yorkshire, England, but now is an American citizen. In Washington, Elliston said he does not know whether he is a member of the Committe to Aid the Allies. He said his name may be on the roster of the Boston chapter.

Elliston joined the Columbia Broadcasting system when the Russo-Finnish war broke out and gave eyewitness reports from Finland to the United States. For a time he also broadcast a weekly financial talk to England for CBS.

Elliston also had served as foreign correspondent for the Manchester Guardian and The Observer, British newspapers, and at one time was economic adviser to the Chinese government. From 1927 to 1930 he was associate editor of American Foreign relations, a yearly volume published by the Council on Foreign Relations in New York.

U. S. MOVES EVER NEARER THE WAR, SAYS NAZI PRESS

Charges American Navy Will Convoy Ships.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 23.—The United States is irresistibly being sucked more deeply into the vortex of the European war. That was the theme of articles appearing today in various organs of the German press with a similarity in tone which appeared inspired. These articles may therefore be taken as reflecting the opinion of high officialdom.

Noteworthy was a short item in the Hamburger Fremdenblatt under the heading, "Will Roosevelt Provoke Us?" It stated that President Roosevelt, beginning May 1, will give the American navy orders to convoy merchant vessels transporting war materials to Britain. The editorial said that this move would be another case of the efforts of "certain American circles to carry the help England bill to its logical conclusion."

See Convoys Next.

The protection of convoys to Britain by the American navy is looked upon generally as the next step in America's participation in the war. The German public has been told that Washington, D. C., swarms with British agents and propagandists.

At this moment, the greatest danger threatening Britain is on the sea lanes. Therefore, American action will take place first in this field, according to the German press. This form of action is taken for granted even to the extent of conflict between German sea or air units and American naval ships with American sailors.

American protection of convoys, according to the Hamburger Fremdenblatt, may mean that "approximately half of the transport lanes will be taken care of by American units. It also can mean that the interventionists wish to create a situation where the flag of the United States will appear in the perilous zone of the British isles."

"Learned to Hate Germans."

The Fremdenblatt declared that "even today Americans do not like Britain but under the influence of British propaganda they have learned first of all to hate the Germans. The British have in the United States only one sure ally and that is the social vanity of a snobbish upper class. The Roosevelt family belongs to the class. It is understandable that the sons of great American families are trained in their feudal universities to be more English than the English."

The situation has become a curious and uncomfortable one for the few hundred Americans still left in Germany. So far there have been no incidents in the streets or other public places but Americans—especially those whose German betrays their nationality—are becoming self-conscious. Unofficially, officials are plain in saying that Americans are the tolerated citizens of an enemy power.

An Evasive Answer.

Responsible authorities have dropped all pretense that the United States is not an enemy power carrying on war against Germany. The anomaly remains of an American embassy still existing in Berlin going thru the motions of carrying on normal diplomatic relations. The question Americans here ask themselves is how long this situation will continue.

One evasive answer has already been given out in circles close to the government. It was that "Germany alone will be the sole judge of what powers are hostile to it."

To a direct question from me, a high official declared that we are living in an age where nations make war on each other without admitting it openly. "Declarations of war are old fashioned and have become superfluous," were his words.

The War in Africa

Captions indicate important developments in the progress of the war in Africa between British and Italian armed forces.

BRITISH WIN KEY BASE IN ADVANCE ON ADDIS ABABA

Neghelli Falls; Bomb Djibouti Rail Line.

CAIRO, Egypt, March 23 (AP).—British forces driving north to Addis Abba from Kenya colony and Italian Somaliland have captured the strategically important southern Ethiopian town of Neghelli, a British communique announced today.

As the fast mechanized columns which started the northward march from Dolo and Mega early this month moved into Neghelli, planes of the RAF and the South African air force raided other Ethiopian towns, bombed and machine gunned trains on the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railway, and pounded at the Marda pass defenses in the Jijiga area south of the railway.

Local Successes at Keren.

The communique also reported some local successes in Eritrea where the British have besieged the railroad town of Keren, which bars the road to Asmara, the capital.

[Neghelli was only a stockaded village in January, 1936, when Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's "hell on wheels" column drove into it. The Italians hailed it as a mighty victory, pointing out that the capture gave them control of all water holes within 250 miles of Dolo. Premier Mussolini sent Graziani his personal congratulations. The town lies about 240 miles from Addis Ababa and has an important air field.]

In the area of Jijiga which the British captured last week, a fresh drive was going on toward Harrar, provincial walled capital. The next stop beyond that was expected to be Diredawa on the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railroad which the British hope to cut.

At least one train was destroyed on the rail line, the communique said, when bombs smashed it and set it on fire.

British Repulsed, Says Rome.

ROME, March 23 (AP).—British forces storming Keren, mountain key to Italian Eritrea, were "repulsed everywhere in bloody fighting" and axis air forces destroyed 18 "enemy" warplanes, the Fascist high command reported today.

The daily war bulletin said the British attack at Keren was reopened at nightfall Friday and that in accompanying air combat three British and two Italian planes were lost.

U. S. IS VIRTUALLY AT WAR, ITALIAN WRITER ASSERTS

MILAN, Italy, March 23 (AP).—Luigi Barzini, political commentator of Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo d'Italia today declared "America is virtually at war," and added that the convoying of supplies to England probably would be the last straw to break the axis patience.

Asserting that President Roosevelt could not put the United States directly into the war because of American public opinion, Barzini said the President was seeking to bring about American entry by forcing the axis to declare war.

"And who seeks may also find," he said. "If he decides to convoy supplies to England under escort of American warships under the pretext that it is necessary to aid the English not alone by sending them arms but by seeing that they arrive, incidents which President Roosevelt desires could easily come about. So American entrance into the war is a probability we already have discounted."

AID-ALLIES GROUP DENOUNCED FOR WAR MONGERING

American First Speaker Warns of Costs.

Dr. Paul Hutchinson, associate editor of the Christian Century magazine, told an America First rally yesterday that the United States is going down the road to war—a road which, he charged, "is being paved by the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies."

Dr. Paul Hutchinson.

He asserted that this committee is always one step ahead of the Roosevelt administration in war propaganda, and said: "We can expect the convoying of arms to Britain any day now." He pointed out that the national policy board of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies demanded last week that the United States provide warships to protect arms shipments.

Warns of Postwar Problems.

Dr. Hutchinson addressed a rally sponsored by the Hyde Park chapter of the America First committee in Graham Taylor hall, 5757 University avenue. He said that "altho we are as good as in the war now, we do not know what we are fighting for. We are off on another hopeless crusade."

He warned that postwar problems would "make those of 1919 seem like child's play." If the United States pursues its current policy, totalitarianism will replace democracy in America, Dr. Hutchinson said.

Cantwell to Speak Tonight.

Meanwhile a series of meetings to rally public opinion against administration war moves was announced by Mrs. Elizabeth Landa, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee.

Robert E. Cantwell Jr., Chicago attorney, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Oak Park chapter of the America First committee at 8 p. m. tonight in the chapter headquarters at 736 Lake street, Oak Park.

29,223 ALIENS HELD IN 8 CAMPS, FRANCE REPORTS

U. S. Writers Inspect Internees' Prisons.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, March 23.—Eighteen American newspapermen and photographers today began a tour of concentration camps along the Pyrenees border in southern France where, the ministry of the interior announced, 29,223 foreigners are confined. They will inspect all but one of the eight camps under the guidance of M. Fourcade, chief of the foreign section of French security police, and Charles Benoist Dazy, press attache of the ministry of information.

The camps are divided into three groups. The first includes two camps, one at Vernet for men and one at Rieucros for women, in the Perpignan area. In these camps are persons interned during the war for political misdemeanors. Vernet has 2,651 occupants — Spaniards, Poles, Russians, Italians, Germans, and Jugo-Slavs. The camp was created during the Spanish civil war to intern Republican [government] soldiers who fled across the frontier. The Rieucros camp has 308 women listed as dangerous agitators or undesirables.

Many Public Charges.

In the second group are interned foreigners of another class. The group includes a camp at Argeles, near Perpignan, where more than 9,000 men, mostly Spaniards, are interned; another at Rivesaltes, which has 6,240; a third at Noe, which has 1,608, and a fourth at Recebedou, which has 670.

The internees of the group are confined under the terms of a decree that authorized the prefects of each French department last October to round up foreigners who were public charges and put them to work. They get their keep but no pay. They are not prohibited from emigrating.

Camps of the third group are mostly around Marseilles and in them—in some cases the camps actually are hotels—are internees who are merely awaiting transportation as emigrants, mostly to America. These people are in a camp at Les Milles and in the Hotels Bompard and Terminus at Marseilles.

German Jews in One Camp.

The final camp is at Gurs, in the lower Pyrenees, where there are 7,809 internees, mostly German Jews who are trying to get to America.

While the population of the camps was announced as 29,223, this figure does not indicate the proportions of the problem the French government has on its hands in foreigners.

For six or seven years France has been a sort of underground railway station for persons wanting to get to the United States, and many have remained. Before the declaration of war it was estimated that more than two million foreigners lived in France, the figures being: 790,000 Italians, 320,000 Spaniards, 310,000 Belgians, 310,000 Poles, 121,000 Swiss, 68,000 Germans, 120,000 Russians, 30,000 Armenians, and 7,000 German refugees. One-fourth of them were concentrated around Paris.

War Swells Total.

These figures do not, of course, include the Dutch and Belgians who swarmed into France after last spring's attacks, and it was estimated this movement had increased the foreign population to four millions. The figures also do not include Spanish Republican army refugees who, just after the close of the Spanish civil war, were estimated at 200,000. Some of these Spanish refugees have since gone to Mexico.

France would like to get rid of as many of these foreigners as possible, especially at a moment when unemployment is one of Chief of State Henri Philippe Petain's biggest problems. But no other country seems to believe they would be an asset.

Does Your Breath Broadcast— "I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

People who wear plates or bridges often suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing may not prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing that definitely stops "denture breath" is daily use of Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists and users. Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and food deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Do this daily: Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes—Rinse—and it's ready to use!

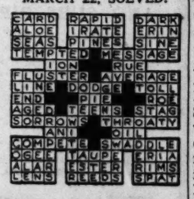
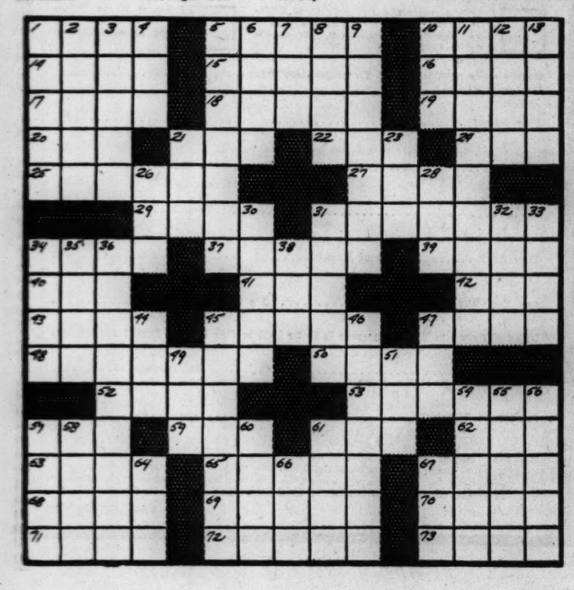
PUZZLE OF SATURDAY, MARCH 22, SOLVED.





Escape Fails

NAZIS CAPTURED BY U. S. PUT BACK IN CANADIAN JAIL

Immigration Law Foils Attempted Escape.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 23 (AP).—Two German naval officers who were intercepted midway across the frozen St. Lawrence river by the United States border patrol on an elaborately planned escape, were back in prison at old Fort Henry tonight after being refused entry into the United States.

It was disclosed the Germans established a record of some sort, for they had to break into a locked cell to make their getaway. The cell was sealed on Friday when it was discovered a stone had been loosened in an escape plot. All the occupants were removed pending repairs.

Apparently the Germans broke into the locked cell on Friday evening, removed the loosened stone, and crawled out thru the wall. Guards captured two accomplices in the cell before they could get away.

United States Procedure Explained.

Officials emphasized that the Germans [identified in Washington, D. C., by the department of justice as Bernhardt Gohlke and Heinz Rottman] had not been arrested on a charge of entering the United States illegally.

The procedure was compared with that involving Canadians traveling to the United States. Canadians are permitted to cross the border to the first United States immigration office, but if their papers are not in order they are returned to Canada.

The Germans were refused admission after a hearing before United States immigration officials at Clayton, N. Y., on the boundary, and were taken in custody by Canadian authorities.

Baron Held by U. S.

Officials here said the two men were not in the category of another German prisoner now free on bail in the United States. This man, who identified himself as Baron Franz von Werra, Nazi flying ace, was arrested at Ogdensburg, N. Y., after entering the United States undetected. He is free on bond and faces a charge of illegal entry.

Of 33 Germans who have attempted to escape from Canada, all but the flyer now held by the United States, and one who was shot dead, have been returned to prison.

1 WPA EMPLOYE DEAD, 30 ILL, OF STRANGE DISEASE

Montgomery, Ala., March 23 [Special].—State health department officers were ordered to Butler county tonight to investigate a mysterious outbreak of disease among WPA cotton mattress project workers which has killed one and made 30 more ill.

At Greenville, Sheriff Brooks Barganier said that local authorities had found it "impossible to cope with the outbreak, because we don't know what it is."

"Our doctors are puzzled by the malady," the sheriff said. "All symptoms are much the same. Respiration is impaired. Usually there is fever. All who are stricken suffer from burning sensation in their throats and nostrils."

The outbreak occurred among members of the group of more than one hundred WPA workers employed in making cotton mattresses under a project sponsored by the extension division of Alabama Polytechnic institute.

SPANISH DUKE AT THROTTLE AS TRAINS COLLIDE

MADRID, Spain, March 23 (AP).—The duke of Saragossa, a veteran locomotive engineer, was at the throttle of a Vitoria-Madrid express today when it collided with a mixed passenger-freight train nine miles from Vitoria. The duke escaped unhurt but the engineer, fireman, and brakeman of the other train were among the injured. Several cars were damaged. A college gradate who speaks English, German, and French as well as Spanish, the duke piloted the train which carried Queen Victoria, widow of former King Alfonso, and their royal children, into exile in 1931. He is an inspector of railroads for the North Railroad company but he habitually drives a locomotive himself.

JAP FOREIGN HEAD VISITS MOSCOW; PLANS NO U.S. TRIP

Will Go to Berlin After Seeing Molotov Today.

MOSCOW, March 23 (AP).—Yosuke Matsuoka, Japan's foreign minister, arrived here today for a one day stopover en route to Berlin and Rome for axis conferences, and said he would like to stay longer "to meet leaders here" on his return trip to Tokio.

Matsuoka spoke at an interview in the Japanese embassy three hours after receiving a courteous but unostentatious welcome to the Russian capital.

Some Japanese authorities suggested before his departure that he continue his trip from Berlin and Rome to London and Washington, Matsuoka said, but he added, "I do not have that in mind."

Six Week Trip Planned.

The Japanese minister said he had no definite itinerary or plans, but hoped his trip would not take more than six weeks. He related that the German and Italian foreign ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, invited him by telephone to make the trip immediately after the signing of the three power treaty last Sept. 27.

"The tripartite pact is the greatest foreign instrument for Japan," Matsuoka said. "Japanese foreign policy will revolve around it as a pivot.

"Now, it is natural for the foreign minister of Japan, who had something to do with conclusion of the pact, to meet and know the leaders of the other countries. That might make a big difference in carrying out the pact in the future."

Hitler Meeting "Important."

Matsuoka said he knew Premier Benito Mussolini and Count Ciano but had not met Adolf Hitler and Von Ribbentrop and regarded personal acquaintance with them as "of very, very great importance."

"In history," he asserted, "personal acquaintance has sometimes decided the issue of war or peace. I would like to hear what these leaders have to say and, perhaps, also have occasion to say what I have in mind."

Matsuoka said he "might be given a chance to make a personal observation of western Europe in connection with the war," perhaps including a visit to former battlefields, but that "apart from these general thoughts I have nothing particular in mind."

The first Japanese foreign minister ever to visit Moscow, Matsuoka will "pay respects to the government here" when he calls tomorrow on Russia's premier and foreign commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov. Japanese sources said his visit to Molotov will be only a courtesy call.

CHINESE AND JAP FIGHTING RAGES ON HAINAN ISLAND

HONGKONG, China, March 24 Monday (AP).—Both Chinese and Japanese dispatches today reported bitter fighting on Hainan Island, where Japan is said to have concentrated large forces for some southward move. Chinese said the fighting turned in their favor, and that more than 1,000 Japanese were wounded and sent away on transports. Chinese also reported successful counterattacks around Kaoan in Kiangsi province where they said 500 Japanese were killed and 800 wounded.

MALTA ATTACKED 3 TIMES IN 2 DAYS BY DIVE BOMBERS

Nazis Pounce on Harbors; Claim Cruiser Hit.

BERLIN, March 23 (AP).—Three air attacks in two days on Malta, Britain's mid-Mediterranean island base, and scattered new blows on British shipping from the North Atlantic to the eastern Mediterranean were reported by the Germans today.

Nazi dive bombers bore down on the Maltese harbor of Valetta today, blasted harbor facilities in a virtual spray of bombs and crippled a British cruiser and large passenger ship, German flyers said. They claimed a hit with a bomb of the heaviest caliber on the bow of the cruiser and another blow with a heavy bomb on the merchantman's deck.

Attacking twice on Saturday, the high command said, fighter-escorted Nazi combat groups scored hits on ships and antiaircraft positions.

At least 19,000 tons of British shipping were claimed as sunk or damaged in widespread air operations over a two day span.

Attack South of Crete.

"At sea south of Crete," it was stated, "German combat planes engaged a strongly protected convoy. Planes scored two hits amidships on one vessel of 6,000 tons whereupon the ship stopped and burst into flames.

"Two further ships in this convoy were damaged. A merchantman of 5,000 tons southwest of Cyprus was so severely damaged by German planes that its loss is counted upon."

[The Italian communique also reported Nazi air attacks on the last mentioned four ships and added a 10,000 ton merchantman, which it said was sunk by a torpedo launched from an Italian plane.]

German press dispatches said a 6,000 ton freighter was brought to a stop shrouded in smoke after a bomb hit amidships today near the Shetland Islands, off northeast Scotland.

Sunk in St. George Channel.

In the St. George channel, between the Atlantic and the Irish sea, the daily war bulletin said, another freighter, of 3,000 tons, was struck amidships and sunk. Another, of unstated tonnage, was listed as severely damaged by air attack east of Orford Ness. The communique also said the Scottish port of Peterhead and English port of Colchester were raided.

Many of the 22 ships which the high command said yesterday were sunk by German battleships in the Atlantic were reported by DNB, the official German news agency, today to have been loaded with "extremely valuable war material." Quoting some of the 800 survivors rescued from the ships, DNB said much of the war material consisted of airplane parts and munitions.

When five ships from Canada were sighted, a German sailor said, one of the freighters broadcast the radio signal letter "R" three times, he said. This, the account continued, stood for "raiders" and under sea war regulations promulgated by the Germans the use of the radio in these circumstances makes the ship subject to immediate destruction.

Announce Loss of Trawler.

LONDON, March 23 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight that the trawler Rubens is "overdue and must be considered lost."

Survivors at Cape Verde.

LISBON, Portugal, March 23 (AP).—Reports from the Cape Verde Islands today said a number of English ships, at least five, had been sunk in those waters in the last few days.

Army's Largest Bomber Ready for Guns

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

The B-19, the army's largest bomber, as it was wheeled in front of hangar doors at Douglas aircraft plant in Santa Monica, Cal., for installation of propellors and gun turrets.

Test Flights Near

Santa Monica, Cal., March 23 [Special].—The huge four motored bomber being built by the Douglas Aircraft corporation at its plant here has been swung into position in front of the hangar doors for final assembly. In this position the propellors and gun turrets will be installed, after which the plane, known as the B-19, will be moved outdoors for final inspections before test flights. The plane is 132 feet long and measures 212 feet from wing tip to wing tip.

GREEKS INFLICT 'HEAVY LOSSES' ON DUCE'S MEN

ATHENS, Greece, March 23 (AP).—Greek general headquarters tonight said local Italian attacks in the Viosa river area of Albania were repulsed with "heavy losses." Greek patrols were said to have penetrated Italian lines taking prisoners and returning without a loss. Greek artillery and trench mortars, a government spokesman said, caused "heavy losses to enemy columns on the move."

The ministry of home security said Italian aircraft raided Preveza but, he declared, there were no casualties and only slight property damage. The ministry said Lixuri on the island of Cephalonia and a town in western Peloponnesus were raided. Two women were killed and a child injured in the Peloponnesus attack.

Italians Bomb Airport.

ROME, March 23 (AP).—The Italian high command today said Fascist bombers had attacked the Greek airport at Paramythia [southwest of Janina] where three planes were destroyed on the ground, several others damaged, and two British fighters shot down in combat.

Ireland Forms Company to Control Shipping Facilities

DUBLIN, March 23 (AP).—The government of Ireland has formed a limited liability company to "take the fullest advantage of any opportunity that may be available for providing shipping facilities for the importation of essential commodities." The finance minister, holding 51 per cent of the shares of capital, will appoint directors.

BOMBS DESTROY NAZI BARRACKS IN FRANCE, CLAIM

British Say 2 Missiles Find Their Mark.

LONDON, March 23 (AP).—The British air force rode the wind down the French coast from Calais to Brittany today for a smashing attack on the port of Quiberon, close to the Nazi submarine base of Lorient, the government announced.

A communique said high explosive bombs destroyed a German barracks block in the town while another bomb was sent crashing into a German escort vessel — an antiaircraft ship—near Brest.

Two of the bombs which hit the barracks exploded simultaneously, the air ministry news service said, and with such terrific force that a British plane 1,000 feet above was shaken.

Bombers Downed Over England.

The British skimmed the coast at such low altitude that they could see French fishermen and people on the beaches look up and wave "cheeringly" as they recognized the British markings.

There was some aerial activity over Britain and an official announcement said three enemy bombers were destroyed.

German guns in France fired across Dover strait at irregular intervals this afternoon and evening for the first time in several weeks. No casualties were reported.

British Planes Bomb Berlin.

BERLIN, March 24, Monday (AP).—Formations of the British air force bombed Berlin during the night, authorized sources announced early today, killing and injuring some civilians but inflicting only insignificant property damage.

[A German radio broadcast heard in America said, "Single British planes succeeded in reaching the center of the city, and in dropping incendiary bombs from a great height on the diplomatic quarter of Berlin. They did not cause much damage, however. In several civilian communities in the outskirts of Berlin incendiary and explosive bombs were dropped, without causing much material damage."]

British to Salvage Metal from Crystal Palace Ruins

New York, March 23 (AP).—The British radio said today the north tower, all that remains of London's famous Crystal palace after the big fire of 1936, is to be "blown up to provide valuable scrap metal for British munitions factories and also to deprive the enemy of a guide on his bombing expeditions." The south tower also survived the fire, but already has been demolished. Both towers contain more than 1,600 tons of cast iron.

PLASTERER KILLED BY CAR.

Cedar Falls, Ia., March 23 [Special].—Axel Anderson, 35 years old, a plasterer, was killed this morning while walking along highway 218, near here, when struck by an auto driven by E. H. Quinn of New Hartford.

CONVICTED SPY, GIVEN PROBATION, SAILS FOR RUSSIA

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23 (AP).—Mikhail Nicholas Gorin, convicted of espionage but granted probation on condition he return to Russia, sailed today aboard the liner Columbia bound for Vladivostok.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles urged the action "because of certain important considerations of an international nature," Federal Judge Ralph E. Jenney declared yesterday in granting probation.

Gorin, local official of a Russian travel agency, was required to pay a $10,000 fine and $1,413 in court costs. His six year sentence was upheld by the United States Supreme court last January.

He was convicted on charges of buying information from Hafis Salich, a civil employé of the United States naval intelligence service, regarding Japanese activities on the Pacific coast. Salich was convicted with him.

ILLINOIS TROOPS SPEND SUNDAY AT MUSIC AND STUDY

Visit Old Battlefield or Hear Symphony Concert.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

(Pictures on back page.)

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Forrest, Tenn., March 23.—A cultural Sunday was enjoyed today by soldiers of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard. More than 100 spent the day visiting a civil war battlefield, 45 miles north of Camp Forrest. Three hundred others journeyed to Chattanooga to attend an afternoon symphony concert, at which they were guests of the Chattanooga Junior League.

Other thousands of Illinois soldiers left camp early in small groups, most of them enjoying their first free day since their arrival here. By noon hundreds could be found in towns 50 to 60 miles away, lounging about the village squares or waiting for theaters to open.

Social Event in Chattanooga.

Soldiers who made the 80 mile trip to Chattanooga traveled in a convoy of 30 trucks led by military policemen on motorcycles. The convoy arrived in the city early in the afternoon, allowing the men several hours in which to inspect the city before the concert.

The concert itself was an important event in the social life of Chattanooga. It featured the famous St. Louis Symphony orchestra, and was held in Chattanooga's Memorial auditorium.

Apparently the Junior League of Chattanooga is resolved to do its best to make the life of the Illinois troops, here for a year of rigorous military training, a gay social whirl. Soldiers returning to camp said they had been invited back to Chattanooga on March 31 to see the Monte Carlo ballet. Invitations also were extended to attend a Lawrence Tibbett concert on April 21.

View Only Battle Line.

The other group of Guardsmen visited the site of the battle of Stone River, near the city of Murfreesboro. At this spot Union soldiers under Gen. William Rosecrans met Confederate Gen. Braxton Bragg and his army of Tennessee on Dec. 31, 1862, in one of the fiercest battles of the civil war.

After three days of fighting the Confederates retreated from Stone river, leaving Murfreesboro in Union hands. Casualties were heavy, 13,000 Union soldiers and 12,000 confederate troops having been killed, wounded or listed as missing in the fight. The Union losses included more than 700 men from Illinois.

Today the graves of those Illinois soldiers, who with 6,000 other northern men killed at Stone River rest in a national cemetery near by, were visited by the 33d division Guardsmen. Guided by caretakers of the battlefield, which since 1927 has been a national military park, they saw the trenches, the gun emplacements and other landmarks of the battle fought 79 years ago.

LAST UNIT LEAVES TODAY.

"The Fighting Second"—132d infantry of the 33d division—left yesterday for Camp Forrest, Tenn., to join other former Illinois National Guard units for a year of military service. Nine hundred officers and men, commanded by Col. Leroy F. Nelson, entrained for camp aboard three special trains. A convoy of 31 trucks and motor cars, manned by 50 men, was to leave early today. The arrival of the convoy will complete the transfer of all units of the National Guard, which began two weeks ago, and the state will be without its services for the first time since the end of the world war. Home duties of the guard will be taken over by the Illinois reserve militia, commanded by Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin.

Camp Livingston, La., March 23 [Special].—Officers, noncommissioned officers, and selected enlisted men of the 106th cavalry regiment of Illinois are being sent to army specialist schools as rapidly as possible to prepare them for the jobs required in a modernized army. Tactical Tests Begin Today.

Fort Custer, Mich., March 23 [Special].—For three days beginning Monday the 5th division here and two of its combat teams temporarily maneuvering at Camp McCoy, Wis., will be put thru a series of tactical tests to determine the effectiveness of the division's 13 week mobilization training program.

The tests, the nature of which will not be disclosed to the troops and commanders until just before performance, will come under the scrutiny of Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear and other ranking officers of the 2d army; Maj. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, general headquarters chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Cummins, division commander.

Gen. Lear and Brig. Gen. Ralph Talbor, with seven other officers of the 2d army staff from Memphis, Tenn., will conduct tests of 5th division units at Camp McCoy Monday and then come to Fort Custer, while Gen. McNair comes here direct from Washington.

50 COLORED BOYS TO BE ACCEPTED FOR AIR SERVICE

Rantoul, Ill., March 23 [Special].—Colored youths, properly qualified, will be given their first opportunity to enlist in the United States army air corps at Chanute field here starting tomorrow. Fifty colored youths, high school graduates, or holding a journeyman's rating in some mechanical trade, between the ages of 18 and 35 and unmarried, will be enlisted. A total of 236 others are to be enlisted at various other recruiting stations.

These men will be trained in the air mechanics school at Chanute field, and when graduated will form the ground crews for the 99th pursuit squadron, an all-colored outfit to be organized.

INQUIRY REVEALS COMMUNIST HOLD ON HIGH SCHOOLS

Dozen in Party Grip, Says New York Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., March 23.—Widespread communistic activity exists in the public educational system of New York, a joint legislative committee reported today. It charged that there is considerable communist activity in the New York City high school system and declared these activities "even more insidious and difficult to detect" than in the colleges. At least a "dozen high schools" need to be investigated, the report stated.

The committee made a plea that the entire city college system in New York not be judged on the basis of the communist activities it has exposed. The great majority of city teachers and students, it said, "are loyal, devoted supporters of the democratic system of government."

Forced to Make Loans.

The committee's summary of tactics used by the communists to organize and work within the walls of the College of the City of New York and Brooklyn college [both tax supported institutions] included the charge that communism had some of the aspects of a "financial racket." Party dues, it declared, were in fact an income tax, based directly on the amount of income.

"At one time it was required that members of City College unit borrow money from banks, using their public salaries as collateral security, so each could 'loan' from $100 to $500 to a communist magazine called 'The New Masses' to help it out of financial difficulties," said the report.

Apparently the communist party leadership made quite an effort to keep track of its members and what they were doing. It exercised a domination over their personal as well as political lives which makes a mockery of their alleged belief in democracy and freedom."

Sundays Not Their Own.

The report reviewed the tactics used by Morris U. Schappes to cover his party connections. It noted Schappes' recent indictment for perjury because of his committee testimony and then outlined other features of communist activities, saying:

"College teacher members of the communist party, testimony showed, were required to set aside certain Sundays on which to go from door to door in various New York City districts to peddle the 'Daily Worker' and seek subscriptions for it."

The report declared that communist doctrine was spread among students thru the "Young Communist league" and "Young Pioneers." The latter group is for children up to 14 years of age and the Young Communist league is for students from 14 to 21.

COUNT BREAKS TOE.

Sun Valley, Idaho, March 23 (AP).—Count Jersy Potocki, former Polish ambassador to the United States, broke a toe today while getting off the ski lift at the top of Dollar mountain.

Proposed Railroad

Broken line marks route of railroad to be built by France.

VICHY, France, March 23 (AP).—The government today authorized construction of a trans-Sahara railroad connecting the Mediterranean and the Niger river—an African project planned by the French for many years.

The railroad would be the first step in construction of an international trans-African network, an official report said. Studies of the project indicated construction would be easy, the report said, and estimated the cost at about $10,000,000.

The proposed line will connect with the line from Oran at Bou-Arfa near the Moroccan-Algerian frontier in North Africa, thence to Colomb-Bechar, Kenadsa, Beni Abbes, Adrar, In-Tassit where it would reach the Niger river which runs to the Gold Coast. From the river one branch would go to Segou and another to Niamey.

ARGENTINE PRESS CRITICIZES U. S. ON MEAT DEAL

BUENOS AIRES, March 23.—La Prensa, one of the two leading Buenos Aires morning dailies today voiced disappointment of the Argentine people over Washington's delay on authorizing the purchase of Argentine meats for the United States navy. It pointed out that the quantity of meat involved was not large, and that increased commercial exchange between the United States and Argentina would be of benefit to both nations. Other newspapers are even stronger in their comments, some saying that the situation justifies doubts as to the sincerity of President Roosevelt's "good-neighbor" policy.

Seven U. S. Warships Sail from Sydney for Brisbane

SYDNEY, Australia, March 23 (AP).—Seven United States warships under the command of Rear Admiral John H. Newton sailed today for Brisbane, where they will remain three days. Led by the heavy cruiser Chicago, the ships arrived here last Thursday on a training cruise.

THE RIGHT MAN IS CALLED FOR A RESCUE TASK

Sergt. William Thorp of the East Chicago avenue police, who has just completed the police department's 11 week course in first aid, knew precisely what to do last night when called to save Miss Georgianna Druse, 21 years old.

Miss Druse, a brunet night club hostess, had swallowed a half bottle of sleeping tablets and slashed both her wrists in the basement of her home at 119 West Chestnut street because, the police said, of a disappointment in love.

Sergt. Thorp administered a solution to counteract the sleeping powder and stopped the bleeding at her wrists. Then he and his squad hurried Miss Druse to the Henrotin hospital, where physicians said she will recover.

NAZIS PRACTICE FOR INVASION ON BALTIC ISLE

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 23.—A full dress rehearsal for an invasion of Britain was recently carried out by the German army in coöperation with the navy and air fleet on the island of Rugen, in the Baltic, according to a report today from the Berlin correspondent of the pro-German Stockholm paper Aftonbladet.

"The tactical task of the participating units was an attack from the sea on the cliffs of Rugen and a consequent landing, with as little loss as possible, of a large number of troops," the correspondent wrote. He added that "the Rugen cliffs are remarkably like those of England on the channel coast."

The story emphasized two factors—the use of a multitude of small, fast boats and the use of a new artificial fog.

"In a few minutes it is possible to lay an enormous fog screen under the protection of which soldiers and boats can operate," the account said.

Bus Full of Worshipers Hits Refuse Truck; 23 Hurt

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23 (AP).—A street railway bus loaded with churchgoers collided with a garbage truck today. Twenty-three persons were injured, five of them critically. Almost every window in the bus was shattered.

DIES IN PLANE CRASH.

Russell, Kas., March 23 (AP).—John T. Musgrove, 31 years old, was killed last night in the crash of his airplane. His body and the burned wreckage of the plane was found today.

VIOLENCE THREAT VOICED IN STRIKE AT RICHMOND, IND.

CIO Warns Harvester Not to Reopen Plant.

BY HERMAN KOGAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Richmond, Ind., March 23.—Threats of violence if the International Harvester company attempts to reopen its strikebound plant here were made today by Clifford Kerr, president of the local CIO Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing committee.

Kerr addressed a crowd of 400 CIO unionists after they had participated in an apathetic "solidarity" automobile parade.

Dewitt Gilpin, Chicago radical who is directing the strike, also spoke. Gilpin called Judge John C. Lewe, who granted an injunction preventing mass picketing at the McCormick plant in Chicago, a "peanut judge."

Branded a Communist.

Gilpin, a slightly built young man who has been labeled a communist by Representative Martin Dies, described today's procession as a "victory parade because the company said it would open the plant—and it's still closed."

To forestall possible bloodshed, Mayor John R. Britten, Police Chief Ellis Duckett, and George Hodge, assistant chief of industrial relations for the harvester firm, are expected to confer with Gov. Henry Schricker in Indianapolis tomorrow morning. It was reported they will ask that state police be sent here to augment the local force in protecting men who return to work when the plant reopens, possibly Tuesday morning.

Mayor Britten is expected to cite the utterances of Kerr and also the criminal record of Paul Harter, the local FEWOC's secretary and press agent.

25 Year Criminal Record.

This record, police files show, dates to 1916, when Harter was sent to the Indiana boys' reformatory at Plainfield for burglary. He was released on parole a year later, violated his parole in 1918, and served another one year term.

In 1919 he served six months on the Indiana prison farm for grand larceny and from 1921 to 1925 was returned there several times for various offenses. In 1925 he was sent to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas., for robbing mailboxes in this town.

The resentful attitude of the townsfolk against the strike and its leaders was reflected in today's parade.

FEWOC officials said there were 276 in the parade. A car-by-car count showed there actually were 137. Seventy-five of these bore Ohio license plates, five were from Chicago—loaded with strikers from the McCormick works and from the United Automobile Workers' union—and others were from Muncie, Indianapolis, and surrounding Indiana towns.

WESTERN UNION WORKERS TO OPEN CONCLAVE TODAY

Representatives of 20,000 Western Union employés who are members of American Federation of Labor federal unions or the Commercial Telegraphers' union [AFL] will convene today in the Morrison hotel for a one week conference.

Organization of the 30,000 nonunion employés of the communications company and plans for a national master contract will be discussed. Frank B. Powers, international CTU president, said union commercial telegraph workers are giving wholehearted support to the preparedness program.

He cited "strikeproof" arbitration clauses in all CTU local contracts and constitutional provisions forbidding membership to members of communist organizations.

3 Young Purse Snatchers Face Arraignment Today

Three young hoodlums who have confessed snatching more than 100 purses and terrorizing women in all parts of the city, will be arraigned before Chief Justice James F. Fardy in Criminal court today on three charges of robbery and one of burglary. They are Russell Holbrook, 24 years old, an ex-convict, Chester Bujnowski, 22, who admitted he escaped from the Bridewell last November where he was serving a year for automobile theft, and John Zinsmeister, 22.

FOUND HANGED IN SHACK.

Otto Obright, 65 years old, was found hanged yesterday in a shack at Lawndale avenue and the drainage canal. Willow Springs highway police said his wife, Mary, was sent to a state institution a week ago.

Blocs, groups and parties constantly bring pressure to bear on reporters to withhold facts and to transmit fake dispatches. The Chicago Tribune's correspondents in Washington and thruout the world cannot be bullied, bought or silenced.

STEEL WALKOUT MAY SHUT FORD LINCOLN FACTORY,

Other Big Auto Plants Face Tieup, Too.

Detroit, Mich., March 23 (AP).—A shutdown of several automotive plants because of a lack of parts from the strike bound Midland Steel Products company appeared imminent tonight.

Harry B. Bennett, Ford Motor company personnel director, said the company's Lincoln plant, dependent upon Midland for steel body frames, would be forced to close tomorrow "unless the strike is settled immediately."

Chrysler Also Affected.

The Midland plant also supplies General Motors corporation and Chrysler corporation and it was feared a prolonged strike, called two weeks ago by the UAW [CIO], might eventually halt production in virtually the entire automotive industry.

Federal and state labor conciliators called another conference of the disputants for tomorrow after a day and night of negotiation.

James F. Dewey, federal mediator, said settlement of the strike, which left 4,000 idle, "looks farther away than even." The UAW-CIO is demanding wage increases and abolition of piece work.

Plants Employ 24,000.

The Ford Lincoln plant employs 4,000 men. The Chrysler Dodge plant, it was reported, might be forced to close Wednesday. It has 20,000 workers.

Meanwhile, the National Labor Relations board prepared to open a hearing tomorrow on the UAW-CIO's petition for certification as the sole bargaining agency for 95,000 workers in Ford's River Rouge and Lincoln plants.

The NLRB has issued a complaint against the Ford company charging discriminatory dismissal for union activity of 253 employés. A notice of intent to strike in the company's River Rouge, Lincoln and Highland Park plants has been filed by the UAW-CIO with the state labor mediation board.

Other Strike Developments.

Other developments on the labor front were:

LOS ANGELES Cal. (AP).—An agreement to end the 10 day old strike at the Harvill Aircraft Die Casting plant, which had threatened to delay or halt production by eight Pacific coast aircraft manufacturing firms, has been reached. An announcement by Thomas F. Burns and Paul Shoup, representing the Office of Production Management, said. The management and the union have reached full agreement on virtually all points, including wages. It provides for the immediate termination of the strike. The agreement will be presented to the membership of the die casters union for ratification tomorrow.

BETHLEHEM, Pa.—The Steel Workers' Organization committee [CIO] insisted that plans for a strike tying up the Bethlehem Steel company's plants here will go thru on schedule if the Employés' Representation Plan attempts to hold an election of officers. The plant has more than a billion dollars in government orders. The SWOC insists that any effort of the ERP to conduct an election would be illegal because the NLRB has termed the ERP a company union and ordered it disbanded. The company has appealed from the NLRB ruling. The plant employes 24,000.

VALPARAISO, Ind.—A strike ordered by the CIO union in the Indiana Steel Products company plant at Valparaiso, Ind., last Monday was called off after the AFL group in the plant had announced its determination to go back to work today. The plant employs 250 men. The AFL union had been recognized as the bargaining agent for the employés by the NLRB. After the strike had been ordered the AFL group voted to return to work. The CIO union said a picket line would be formed to prevent this action. In calling off the strike the CIO said an agreement had been reached with the company for negotiations with both groups for a pay increase.

MONTICELLO, Ind.—Three hundred workers will return to their jobs at the Rider Furniture factory, following settlement of a 7 week strike by an AFL union. A 2 cent an hour wage increase was granted. The company was thrown into a receivership a few days after the strike was called.

SENATOR FIGHTS FENCE REMOVAL AT ST. CHARLES

Gunning Is Aroused by Brandon's Proposal.

State Senator Thomas P. Gunning [R., Princeton] was aroused to anger yesterday by the proposal of Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare, that the $23,000 fence around the St. Charles Training School for Boys be torn down. Brandon suggested Saturday that the fence be removed to the new prison unit under construction at Sheridan, in La Salle county, to house incorrigible youths now at the St. Charles school.

For two years Senator Gunning has headed the legislative commission which recommended erection of the fence and construction of the Sheridan security school. This action was taken after numerous escapes and scandals had marked the administration at St. Charles.

Refuses to Surrender.

"I'll bet dollars to doughnuts right now that the St. Charles fence will not be torn down," Senator Gunning said. "Brandon and I are good friends, but if his proposal is continued, he will find me making one of the greatest protests ever heard on the senate floor.

"The commission and the legislature ordered the fence built and it should stay there. I am not going to surrender this hard earned progress to any man, if I have to fight Rodney Brandon, the governor, and others who have not spent the time required to understand the situation."

Brandon had suggested that after the 13 foot fence was removed to Sheridan to surround the 273 acres there, the ground be used for farming. At St. Charles, he charged, the fence served as a challenge to the boys to try to escape.

"I have told Brandon I would oppose farming at Sheridan first, last, and all the time," Gunning said. "The commission assured residents at Sheridan it would be an industrial training school and not a farm project.

Every Boy Called "Dangerous."

"Brandon says the fence induces boys at St. Charles to try to escape. But he wants to put it up at Sheridan. Where is the logic in that? What's more, every boy at St. Charles is potentially dangerous, not just a handful. They paroled a 'good boy' to a farmer and he attacked the farmer's wife with a hatchet.

"The fence has cut down escapes, which numbered 76 in 1939, to a fraction of that number, and that's why it must stay there."

Representative John C. Friedland [R., Elgin], a member of the commission who lives near the St. Charles school, had this to say:

"The idea of Brandon's is so silly as to give just reason for believing that it is he and not the fence that should be removed."

FOUNDATION JOB NEARLY FINISHED AT FILTER PLANT

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, reported yesterday that foundations for the new water filtration plant on a peninsula of made land off 79th street are approximately 95 per cent complete. The work so far, including construction of breakwaters, has cost approximately 12 million dollars. The remainder of the project, including the superstructure and plant equipment, is expected to cost another 12 millions.

W. W. DeBerard, city engineer, said yesterday that the city will advertise this week for bids on 2,700 tons of steel, to cost approximately $250,000, for the skeleton of the plant.

He admitted that the city faces a problem in establishing its priority for the necessary steel and pumping equipment in the face of national armaments orders.

City engineers said the plant will be the largest single water filtration plant in the world. It will have a capacity of 320 million gallons of water a day.

The plant is to serve the south side area bounded by 39th street on the north and the sanitary canal on the northwest. Approximately 1,750,000 persons live in the area.

PAROLEE, 21, SHOT IN POLICE CHASE, DIES OF WOUNDS

Bruno Berk, 21 years old, a paroled convict, died in Bridewell hospital yesterday, 36 hours after he was shot by a policeman during a chase in north side streets. He was released Nov. 26 from Pontiac reformatory after serving three years for automobile theft. Car stealing led to his death yesterday. Police said Berk and a companion, who escaped, stole three automobiles within a few minutes Friday night, using one in a $7 robbery. The third car was wrecked at Ashland avenue and Winona street. Policeman Edward Garrick shot Berk as the bandit reached for a gun.

2 Abandon Stolen Car and Flee in Police Chase

Police yesterday were seeking two robbers who escaped Saturday night after abandoning their stolen car in a chase from Brookfield to Bellwood. Policemen August Sieloff and Carl Serley began pursuing the two in a car speeding west out of Brookfield. In a few minutes the police radio broadcast that the two had taken $200 in a liquor store at Du Bois boulevard and Brookfield avenue. The police found the car later. In it were the $200 taken in the robbery, and two guns.

Stabbed Baby Dies

(Story in adjoining column.)

Douglas Evans, 2, who died yesterday in Berwyn hospital after he had been stabbed by father in domestic quarrel.

PLANE CARRIES IMPORTANT MAIL TO ROOSEVELT

Aboard U. S. S. Benson, March 23 (AP).—A naval patrol plane brought pouches of important documents to President Roosevelt from Miami today as the chief executive and his party continued to enjoy a vacation cruise aboard the yacht Potomac. The plane awaited Presidential action on some of the papers before making its return flight.

The President spent a leisurely day at sea under perfect weather conditions, with members of the party sunning themselves on deck. Deck movies were shown tonight aboard the Benson, the Potomac's destroyer escort.

Both the Potomac and the Benson remained in the vicinity of last night's position, but the location was not disclosed.

MRS. GEORGE BUSHNO DIES.

Rock Island, Ill., March 23 [Special].—Mrs. George Bushno, 62, died today of a heart attack. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon.

BABY SON DIES AFTER FATHER'S KNIFE ATTACK

Second Victim of Stabbing Affray in Berwyn.

Douglas Evans, 2 years old, died yesterday in his mother's room in Berwyn hospital of knife wounds inflicted Saturday by his father while in a fit of jealous rage. The child was the second victim who died of the attack. Mrs. William J. Sanders, 3208 South Grove avenue, Berwyn, mother-in-law of the slayer, also was killed.

The father, William M. Evans, 25, of 156 Gage road, Riverside, was charged yesterday with murder in the two deaths. He also stabbed himself and his wife, Nedra, 22. The attack occurred in Mrs. Sanders' home after Evans had pleaded unsuccessfully with his wife to withdraw a divorce suit she had filed against him. His wife recently was named "Chicago's most beautiful brunette" by the Society of Photographic Illustrators.

While Evans' parents engaged counsel for his defense, Evans, who is in Bridewell hospital, sobbed when he was informed of his son's death. He said he still loves his wife.

Desire for Clothes Told.

"I guess we were just a couple of stubborn kids," he said. "I was more stubborn than she was. But she should have overlooked it and given me another chance. Yes, I did strike her sometimes.

"No man wants his wife to work. She always wanted clothes and things, and to have people admire her. I guess the photographs and everything just went to her head. All that attention gave her delusions of grandeur."

His version of the stabbing was different from that of his wife. They agreed that Evans and his mother, Mrs. Marie Evans, had gone to the Sanders' home to take the baby to a physician's office. But Evans denied he had brandished a knife—as his wife said—after talking to his wife, or shouted his intention of killing her and his son.

Slayer Tells of Quarrel.

"My mother and my mother-in-law quarreled," he said. "Finally my mother-in-law picked up the telephone to call the police. I tried to stop her and she hit me with the receiver. I can't remember what happened then. It was like the film breaking at a movie—everything went blank.

"I didn't mean to stab any one, but I guess they were just in the way."

Leo Poch, assistant state's attorney, said his investigation showed Evans was a "spoiled boy" who was unable or unwilling to hold jobs but who was provided with money by his parents. His father, Mortimer Evans, a sales manager for a watch company, returned yesterday from Indianapolis, Ind.

"Relatives told me Evans was angry because the only thing he could not buy was his wife's love," the prosecutor said.

An inquest will be opened today and will be continued until Mrs. Evans is able to testify.

FLYING KITE, FOUR FALL THRU THIN ICE AND DROWN

Herminie, Pa., March 23 (AP).—A happy afternoon of kite-flying ended in tragedy today when four children of John Kustra, a WPA worker, plunged thru the weak ice of a pond and drowned.

The victims were Mary, 9 years old, John Jr., 7; Peter, 6, and Annie, 5.

The string of a kite they were sailing snared on a tree and the kite nose dived onto ice weakened by warm spring weather. The youngsters raced out to retrieve it. Mary fell thru and pulled the others with her. Little Annie, holding the hand of Peter, was the last to disappear.

Their father, among the first to reach the scene, chopped down a tree so firemen could clamber out on it to recover the bodies. He chopped with a vengeance—for that was the tree that had snared the kite string. The lifeless hands of two of the children still clutched pieces of the string.

LAGGARD SPRING ROUTS WINTER'S SURLY LEGIONS

Four Days of Sunshine Transform Countryside.

Life is achieving a late but beautiful rebirth as a laggard spring drives winter from the forest preserves fringing Cook county.

For two weeks the satin white buds of pussy willows, bursting into bloom beside ice covered sloughs, have been the only token of spring's patient, persistent approach. But yesterday, after four days of sun, the countryside was transformed.

A low haze of color hung against the horizon. It was massed gold, pink, purple and a silvery glint that reflected the sun. Joe Reichert, poet-philosopher who is superintendent of the Palos Hills forest preserve, called it a halo. "It hangs," he said, "so low over the trees."

Bare Boughs Revived.

The colors were those imparted to the bare boughs of trees as sap coursed thru them. The gold was that of the willows, resting like earth-bound golden clouds. The pink was that of swamp maples, the purple that of dogwood, the silver that of the poplars.

"With that color, they're ready to go," said Mr. Reichert. "Here," and he extended a twig of budding linden, "you can actually feel life in it."

Spring is late, Mr. Reichert believes, but will profit by this delay in the suddenness of its beauty and completion. Nature now, as in Indian summer, is in a period of suspended animation. A throbbing quiet, broken only by the occasional impetuous call of the whirling crow or the muted trill of a meadowlark, pervades the woods.

New Moss a Vivid Green.

Ice still covers the lakes and ponds, and patches of snow dapple the hollows, but bright patches of green begin where the snowline ends. New moss is everywhere a vivid green, violets send up furry green leaves from beneath soggy brown rubble, shoots of wild onion jut up on the hillsides and golden bell, or forsythia, and lilac are in fat bud in the clearings.

Yesterday's sun brought wild life into the open. A plump wild pheasant was seen calmly dusting itself beside a highway. Two muskrats waddled happily out of a swamp. A crow perched placidly on a low branch, disdainful of nearby man, and regarded its image in the crystal water of a tiny stream.

Blackbirds Wing Away.

As Mr. Reichert led his party beside a frozen slough in search of budding aspens a flock of red winged blackbirds winged away in flight, the air drumming with their exciting "churk-a-lee, churk-a-lee," and near the top of a steep hillside where hawthorns and wild rose vines were suffused with a deep red, a mourning cloak butterfly, its black wings tipped with yellow, performed gay convolutions in the air.

Quiet streams are covered with green algae, angleworms are crawling in the mud, the cardinal's coat has turned to flame, squirrels are eating the haw buds, dandelion tips are up and the water of the Des Plaines, now yellow and muddy, is out of its banks. Yesterday one bee and three Boy Scouts, one with a drawing board on his back, were seen.

All of these, says Mr. Reichert, are irrefutable signs of the presence of spring. Today: cloudy and slightly colder.

FOUND DEAD OF GAS IN CAR.

George Simms, 41 years old, 901 West 33d street, formerly of Santa Barbara, Cal., was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning, apparently a suicide, in his garage yesterday. His wife, Lottie, 36, said Simms had been despondent over business.

Unhurt in Crash

JACQUELINE COCHRAN.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 23 (AP).—Jacqueline Cochran, the aviatrix, pancaked her speedy plane to a safe landing at the Albuquerque airport today. She was unhurt and airport attendants reported the only damage to the craft was a bent propeller. "The landing gear didn't come down," she told reporters.

PRESIDENT TO ASK 287 MILLIONS FOR MILITARY ROADS

Washington, D. C., March 23 (AP).—Congressional leaders today said they expect President Roosevelt to send to congress soon a 287 million dollar highway program.

Representative Wilburn Cartwright [D., Okla.], chairman of the house roads committee, said the bulk of the program will be to provide access roads to new army training grounds, powder factories, and other establishments. A substantial part of the money, Cartwright said, will be earmarked for the repair of state highways damaged during troop maneuvers.

The Oklahoman explained that this program is distinct from the regular federal aid highway work for which congress last year provided 327 million dollars for expenditure over a two year period. None of the money, he said, will be for so-called superhighways.

"Superhighways should be built thru bond issues and financed with tolls, like Pennsylvania is doing with its new turnpike," he asserted. A new road from Washington to Baltimore will be one "for consideration."

PLAN HEARINGS SOON ON LONGER DAYLIGHT TIME

Ald. John J. Duffy [19th] said yesterday he will confer today with Ald. H. L. Brody [39th] on arrangements for public hearings on Ald. Duffy's proposal that daylight saving time in Chicago be extended another month in the fall. The proposal is now pending in the city council judiciary committee, of which Ald. Brody is chairman.

"We won't lose any time in holding the public hearings," Ald. Duffy said. "Fast action is necessary so that railroads, bus companies, and others can plan their fall schedules if the measure passes."

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes has given an opinion that the amendment will be legal. The measure would extend daylight saving time to the last Sunday in October, instead of the last Sunday in September, when the city now returns to standard time. At a recent judiciary committee hearing, only one person, Ald. Walter Orlikoski [35th], objected to the proposal.

TIA'S NEW MATE COMES 'ROUND THE MOUNTAINS

Karjeung's Tough, but He Hasn't Seen Tia Yet.

Karjeung, a male orangutan with a nasty disposition, arrived at Brookfield zoo yesterday to become the husband of Tia, an orangutan wench whose temper is equally uncertain. Both are natives of Borneo, however, and zoo officials hope this will prove a common bond in case love isn't enough.

Karjeung, 12 years old and 210 pounds, is the largest orang-utan in the country, altho Robert Bean, assistant director at Brookfield, admits that one other may outweigh him. But Karjeung will continue to grow for five or six years more, and is expected soon to be the heaviest as well as the biggest.

Captured at Age of 5.

The new arrival was 5 years old when he was captured in Borneo by a Chinese. He was in the zoo at Surabaya, Java, until last November when he was sold to the San Diego, Cal., zoo. Brookfield got him in trade for two wildebeests and a zebra, both bred at Brookfield. Bean is pretty pleased with the deal, too, since the orang-utan is valued at about $4,000.

Karjeung [the name is Dutch, but Bean doesn't know what it means] was brought back from San Diego aboard the Pacific Limited. Bean, who chaperoned him, said the orang didn't sleep a wink in two days and three nights, and was intensely interested in the scenery. He hung on his bars in front of the window and stared at the Rockies, various rivers, and his first snow.

Stronger than Gorillas.

Orangutans are more valuable than gorillas, Bean says, because they are scarcer. Furthermore they're tougher. A 200 pound orang is as strong as two 200 pound gorillas, and far smarter. Karjeung is so vicious that his cage has to be cleaned with bamboo poles instead of steel rods. He took a steel rod from a San Diego keeper and pried one of the half-inch rolled steel bars of his cage loose before they stopped him. Then he chewed up the repair man. The crate he traveled in from San Diego weighs 1,450 pounds.

For a tough guy, however, his tastes are mild. His favorite diet includes rice, eggs, milk, celery, lettuce, carrots, and bananas.

A Task for Tia.

Bean says that orangutans, while the smartest of all apes, can't be trained much because they refuse to be subjected.

"Nobody," Bean says, "can make a monkey out of an orangutan."

Brookfield is excited, also, about an addax antelope, born three days ago. The youngster is the second such antelope ever born in captivity, and his parents are the first pair owned by any zoo, Bean believes.

At the Lincoln park zoo, meanwhile, interest centers in a pair of lion cubs, male and female, who showed up a month ago, and now are about the size of house cats. Their names are Major and Nellie, and they bring Lincoln park's lion population to six.

MOTHER AND 2 GIRLS SHOT TO DEATH IN HOME

Minneapolis, Minn., March 23 (AP).—Mrs. George Messing, wife of a city fireman, and her two daughters, Dorothy, 15, and Muriel, 11, were found shot to death in their home today.

Dr. W. G. Callerstrom, deputy coroner, held that it was a double murder and suicide, the mother first killing the girls and then herself. Dr. Callerstrom said he was unable to learn a reason for the shootings.

G. O. P. TO DECIDE TODAY WHO WILL HEAD COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., March 23 (AP).—The Republican National committee, meeting here tomorrow, will receive a report that party finances now are "in good shape" but that a fund-raising drive must be started immediately to finance organizational work. C. B. Goodspeed of Illinois will make that report and then resign as party treasurer. Goodspeed is quitting because of ill health.

Sinclair Weeks of Massachusetts, chairman of the executive committee, has been mentioned to succeed Goodspeed, but midwest Republicans have argued that would give too much representation to New England as National Chairman Joseph W. Martin Jr., house minority leader, also is from Massachusetts.

Martin will resign tomorrow, but it was reported the committee would refuse to accept it and insist that he stay on and would authorize him to appoint a salaried executive.

BOY MURDERED, HIDDEN ON FARM; HUNT PLAYMATES

Fruitport, Mich., March 23 [Special].—This farming community was horrified tonight as a result of the murder of 13 year old Jack Kelly, the son of a Fruitport barber, whose nude and mutilated body was found hidden under a brush pile on a farm 2½ miles north of here. The boy had disappeared early last night.

Sheriff Peter Cardinal of Muskegon county notified police in this area to be on the lookout for two young playmates of the dead boy. Late tonight the two boys were reported seen in Ravenna, about 11 miles northeast of Fruitport, which is near Grand Haven.

Tonight, the boys told their father, a farmer, they intended to bury a goat which had died on his farm. Becoming suspicious, the father followed them out of the farmhouse. The boys fled.

Five hundred feet behind the farm house the father discovered the body of the Kelly boy buried under a pile of brush and saplings. The boy's throat had been slashed, his head crushed, and his body mutilated.

Sheriff Cardinal said he had no knowledge that young Kelly had quarreled with his playmates. He said he expected the two brothers would be apprehended by morning.

Seeks Treatment for Gun Wound; Seized for Quiz

John Esposito, 28 years old, 3131 Princeton avenue, was arrested last night when he sought treatment at People's hospital for a bullet wound in his right leg. He was treated at the Bridewell hospital, then taken to the Stanton avenue station. He told Sergt. Richard Begley he was shot during a quarrel. He named his assailant, who is being sought.

6 DIE IN HEAD-ON CRASH.

Temple, Tex., March 23 (AP).—Six Texans were killed in a head-on auto collision near here last night.

RUNAWAY PLANE CRASHES AFLAME ON A BUSY ROAD

Revere, Mass., March 23 (AP).—A pilotless airplane took wing here today, spiraled to an altitude of about 1,000 feet and then plummeted to the International highway, thick with spring-weather motorists.

No one was reported hurt altho the ship, a light coupé, burst into flames on landing between two moving automobiles. The heavy Sunday traffic was snarled for an hour.

The plane, being warmed up at Mueller Field, jumped its chock blocks, slipped its mooring lines, and raced away for an estimated 100 mile an hour takeoff. It swerved after Mechanic Fred Sanita of Malden, Mass., fell in its path. Loss of the plane, which was demolished, was estimated at $1,500.

"I believe I've solved the Tillinghast disappearance case"

There's something to be said for the people who yearn to turn back the clock to days when the news reflected a calmer and saner world.

The New York Times Back-number Department does a constant and sizable business with escapists, historians, and others interested in yesterday's newspapers. It amounts to about $10,000 a year!

This is not surprising when you remember that The Times is accepted as "the newspaper of record." Libraries, universities, U. S. and foreign governments—and 475,000 readers (800,000 on Sundays)—look to The Times for a presentation of all the facts, "without fear or favor," concerning "all the news that's fit to print."

DROP IN OUR LATIN AMERICAN TRADE.

What has happened to all that South American trade we heard so much about when the war broke out? It hasn't appeared in the statistics. We have developed a market for war stuffs with the British empire countries, but there is no future in it. The exchange of products between the neutrals, particularly the neutrals of this hemisphere, shows no signs of improving.

Germany and Great Britain went after the Latin American patronage with vim and vigor prior to the outbreak of the war. While the two European trade giants are fighting each other we should be making hay, but we aren't pitching. The department of commerce in its recent release covering exports for January related that a 12 per cent increase in shipments to the United Kingdom, British Malaya, and British West Africa had been almost completely offset by a decline of 10 per cent in our business with Latin America and 40 per cent with Japan. Sales to Argentina in January totaled only 6 million dollars, compared with 10 millions a year ago. In the last 6 months of 1940 our exports to South America went up just 3 per cent.

The reason that more goods are not being exchanged between the countries of the peaceful hemisphere is the lack of transport. Great quantities of goods have been held for months at South American ports because of the lack of cargo space. As these goods are not being brought here, the South American countries cannot provide the funds to pay for our goods.

The Latin American market is not the only one which is being starved for lack of shipping facilities. Last week a large soap company was reported to be buying large amounts of cottonseed oil to take the place of Filipino cocoanut oil, which could not be brought here because of lack of shipping. Likewise much intercoastal freight which formerly moved by water thru the Panama canal is now going by rail because of the diversion of ships from the coastwise trade.

The shortage of ships makes it impossible to establish permanent trade contacts. The ship shortage is, in a sense, artificial. Our shipping fleet is 10 per cent smaller than it was at the outbreak of the war. This has largely been the result of the sale of ships to Great Britain and the transfer of other ships to foreign registry. Our self-deprivation has not stopped. As recently as March 12 the Maritime commission announced that it had sold 12 ships of a total of over 100,000 tons to the British from its laid up fleet.

In spite of the statistics showing a large merchant tonnage available to Britain, her effort to obtain additional ships no doubt has its justification. The rate of destruction is disturbing if not immediately menacing. Much time is lost in assembling convoys and in moving them across the oceans at the rate of the slowest vessel in the group. Damage to docks and warehouses may cause further delays in unloading. All of these influences and others as well have reduced the efficiency of ocean transport, or, in other words, have created a need for more ships than would be required in peacetime to perform the work.

Some ships belonging to the occupied nations are lying in American ports. Altho there are 36 Danish ships in New York alone, nothing has been done as yet to put these ships to work carrying goods outside the war zone. Reports come from Washington from time to time that somebody is making plans for the postwar depression. The most obvious way to do that is to establish permanent channels of trade in peacetime goods with nations that are not at war. The British are much wiser. They are still manufacturing for export and providing ships to deliver the goods.

WHOM DOES MR. HODES REPRESENT?

Corporation Counsel Hodes has filed an appeal in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals from the injunction issued by Federal Judge Woodward, forbidding the city of Chicago to interfere with the sale of milk in paper containers. As a preliminary to his action he intimates that the city has only begun to fight.

This is a curious sort of belligerency. It adds, if that is possible, to the mystery that has surrounded the relations of the city government of Chicago to the milk marketing industry for more than a decade.

The city government has one legitimate interest in the milk sold to citizens of Chicago, namely, that the milk they get should be pure. Enough evidence has been given in the numerous hearings on paper containers to establish that they are satisfactory from a sanitary standpoint. The buck passing and delay by the board of health, city council, and corporation counsel on paper containers has not been for the protection of health.

There are, of course, other issues involved in the use of the containers. They will change the highly competitive business of marketing milk to the possible disadvantage of some interests and the possible advantage of others. They may or may not reduce the price of milk to consumers. The evidence on this point is inconclusive.

But these are not matters with which the city government or its attorney, the corporation counsel, should concern themselves. It is not their business to protect special interests in the milk marketing field. If paper containers offer a more satisfactory and economical means of distributing milk, they should be adopted. If they do not, they should not be used. That is a question to be determined by competition, not governmental fiat.

The corporation counsel should make a frank statement as to what interests he represents in his continued opposition to paper containers. Obviously it is not the interest of the milk consumers of Chicago, who pay his salary.

THE FASCIST PARTY OF AMERICA.

Today we are taking a look at the Democratic party. Tomorrow we shall undertake a similar survey of the Republican party.

Day by day and year by year the Democratic party is disclosing itself as the Fascist party in the United States. Obviously a great many people in this country are still being fooled by the toplofty assertions of Democratic leaders, but anybody who will take the trouble to examine the organization of the Democratic party and its acts can have no doubt that it is taking its cues from Hitler rather than Thomas Jefferson.

Fascism means dictatorship, both political and economic, and then war. In Italy and Germany the Fascist parties seized the government, turned over all power to self-proclaimed leaders, and forbade any opposition. The opposition in this country has not yet been forcibly suppressed, but that is a tribute rather to the strength of our tradition of liberty than to the self-restraint of the party. The dictatorship is far advanced, and, of course, we are moving toward war with breakneck speed.

In the southern states there is but one party for all practical purposes. This totalitarian setup is bolstered by law and the threat of violence, precisely as in Hitler's Germany. The Negroes are prevented from voting. The poor are denied the ballot by poll taxes. Trick statutes effectively prevent the rise of an opposition party. In the north the party is dominated by the corrupt political machines in the larger cities. It is the party of Hague and Nash, of Pendergast and Tammany.

The Democratic party, like the Nazi party in Germany, is the expression of one man's will. He made the party nominate him for a third term. He made the party nominate Mr. Wallace for the Vice Presidency. Senator Lucas wanted to run against Mr. Wallace and would have done so, he told the delegates, "had this been a free and open convention." It wasn't a free and open convention. It was no more free and open than a Nazi party gathering at Nuremberg.

The Fascist theory of government calls for a concentration of all power in the leader. Fascism destroys the independence of the legislative and judicial branches. Mr. Roosevelt tried to pack the Supreme court and has since boasted that, tho he failed of his immediate purpose, his end has been achieved by other means. He tried to purge congress of all opposition. The Fascist party in congress has voted for laws which, in effect, destroy legislative independence.

The power of the purse has been given to the executive in blank check appropriations. The lawmaking power has been turned over in large measure to boards and commissions whose members are appointed by the executive and are responsible only to him. The great majority of congressmen believed that the rules and rulings of the commissions should be made subject to review in the courts. This effort to preserve a fundamental right of the citizen was opposed by the executive. After long delays, the Logan bill was passed, only to be vetoed. The veto indicated all too clearly that our Leader, like Germany's, believes that the law is the spontaneous generation of the Fuehrer's will.

This Democratic administration of ours has the radio stations and chains under its thumb. It has its scores of press agents organized as a choir of adulation; Herr Goebbels has a similar corps. It is widely believed in Washington that plans for censorship are well advanced and that some of the personnel is already being assembled.

We are following close on Hitler's trail in our financial measures. The New Dealers have copied many of his devices for deficit financing. They share his views regarding the positive desirability of deficits. Like him, they are aiming to gain control of the people's savings entrusted to banks and insurance companies.

The Fuehrer principle has been accepted by the Democratic party in its measures to subject our economy not only to regulation but to control. Hitler bosses agriculture, transportation, banking, labor, etc., and the Democratic party has taken the same line. None of the controls in this country is being relaxed; all of them are being extended. Each day finds new restraints upon the freedom of the market place. More and more prices are being fixed in Washington.

Hitler and Roosevelt came to power at almost the same moment, Hitler at the end of January, 1933, and Roosevelt at the beginning of March, 1933. They have been marching along parallel lines. Both men found themselves faced with a severe economic depression and both of them chose to solve it by huge spending programs and by government interference with business. Neither succeeded in producing more than temporary relief by these measures. Hitler, faced with the failure of his domestic policy, turned to war. Mr. Roosevelt was only a few steps behind.

The record demonstrates that the Democratic party is the Fascist party in the United States, the party of dictatorship and war. Those who support it, whether they know it or not, are promoting Fascism in our country.

Editorial of the Day

HAWAIIANIZING EUROPE.

[New York Herald Tribune.]

Were it not for the fact that the Italian people are inadequately informed about life at Waikiki and on the shores of Manila bay, Count Ciano's editorial slave, Signor Ansaldo, who writes for Il Telegrafo, of Livorno, might well have started a wild pro-American movement in Italy when he accused the American capitalists [our masters, according to him] of plotting to "reduce" the Europeans to the status of the people of the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines. In those lands, according to the learned editor, "the people vegetate on the fringes of American power."

"Vegetate" may be a somewhat free translation. We have not seen the Italian original. But unless we miss our guess most of the dwellers in the "paradise" of Totalitaria would sell their souls to achieve such "vegetation." Instead of strict rations, plenty; instead of perpetual toil, ease; instead of fear and restraint, freedom; instead of humorless and cruel secret police agents, people laughing indolently but comfortably in the sunshine. If to bring similar conditions to the stricken people of Europe be the real purpose of the United States, then indeed is the challenge of American policy a redoubtable one.

TALES AROUND THE FIRE.

Who is the greatest ghost-story teller among modern writers? Rudyard Kipling is our favorite. Many of his tales deal with the supernatural in an enthralling manner. See "The House Surgeon" in the volume called "Actions and Reactions."

* * *

Haunted houses, true or false, always make good yarns, but whenever we have discovered one we haven't had much luck with it. Once upon a time there was a new Sunday editor. We said to him, "No Sunday editor is completely initiated until he prints a haunted house story," and then told him about a haunted studio in Chicago's Greenwich Village. We might as well have handed him a redhot coal.

* * *

Here is a new one for the skeptics. . . . About 30 years ago there was a haunted house in Oak Park. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jansen innocently paid $6,000 down and moved in. They soon discovered that a small white apparition had a habit of whisking along the upstairs hall and into the bathroom. It seemed like their own 6 year old boy, but investigation always found the child in bed.

* * *

Other manifestations followed, and neighbors told the Jansens of an old tragedy in the house: Two children and their father had been asphyxiated while asleep. Jansen moved and later gave his brother permission to occupy the premises. The latter was unable to endure its atmosphere for more than three weeks.

* * *

An odd aspect of the story is that Jansen was an inventor of magicians' illusions. He knew the secret of every trance medium's trick, but he could not rationalize the Oak Park ghost. . . . He is now Dante, the magician.

* * *

Dante says that unbelievers can substantiate his story by interviewing his brother, who lives in Chicago. So if you meet a man named Jansen who looks as if he had seen a ghost, ask him if it's true.

Speaking of Civil Liberties.

In connection with your discourse on Napoleon III. [Feb. 13], do you know Francis [or Franz] Lieber? You should, both for himself and for the book he wrote. He fled to the United States from Germany after the revolution of '48 and eventually landed in Charleston as a professor, where he was an abolitionist in that hotbed of secession and slavery sentiment and wrote a book on civil liberties that is fresh today.

Lieber's work, "Civil Liberties and Self-Government," lists and discusses some liberties that we usually leave out of our inventory of civil rights for the simple reason that in this country no attempt has ever been made to infringe upon them, such as the rights of emigration and communication. And whenever Lieber wanted a particularly noxious example of the suppression of civil rights, he cited it not from his native Germany or from Russia, but from the then current practices of Napoleon III. Another Elephantine Epic.

The Line o' Type's recent investigation of the longest poems in the world should have included "The Conquest of Canaan," by Timothy Dwight. This work, dedicated to George Washington, was published in 1785. It ran to 11 "books"—not volumes. Dwight's son made this claim for it:

"It is not believed that the history of English poetry contains the account of any equal effort made at so early an age." R. P. B.

The House That Pickles Built.

The death of Howard, pickle and ketchup king, head of the house of Heinz, founded in 1869, recalls the fact that the only time the business lost money was in 1893, year of the Columbian exposition, when his father, Henry, started his stupendous advertising by handing out samples to visitors, accompanied by an imitation gherkin [tiny pickle] with metal attachment, which was used as a pendant on men's watch chains. At the recent New York World's Fair the pickle idea was revived in the form of a pin. While the "57 varieties" slogan remains active, there are really 126 varieties, and pickles account for only 4 millions of the 100 million annual business. The founder's maxim was: "Do a common thing uncommonly well." Arthur W. O'Neill.

PINK DISEASE—A DISTURBING CHILDHOOD DISORDER.

NOW and then color may characterize a malady. We have white swellings of joints, pointing to tuberculosis; while yellow jaundice may indicate a disturbance of the gall bladder.

In so-called pink disease the hands and feet appear as tho they had been dipped in boiling water. But when the parts are touched they are found to be cold. There is swelling and a marked tendency to peeling and the condition increases or decreases in severity at intervals. If the tot can talk he will complain that "the extremities feel as tho they were on fire."

But what is the ailment? It was described several years ago by Swift, an Australian physician working in a children's hospital in London. Even earlier, the raw, beefy hands and feet had been noted by other observers. The difficulty attacks chiefly youngsters from 4 months to 5 or 6 years of age.

How does the disorder begin? As a rule, a slight cold comes first, with the temperature ranging from normal to 101 degrees Fahrenheit. As the symptoms of coryza recede there follows a steady decline in strength. The little patient is miserable and fretful and nothing seems to comfort him. Appetite fails and wakefulness is a distressing sign. He lies in bed, usually on his face, with the knees drawn up. The head is buried in a pillow and is rolled from side to side in an attempt to allay the burning sensations. Light is definitely shunned and perhaps the attitude of "hiding away" is largely because the eyes are so sensitive.

Since there is no specific remedy, strenuous efforts are made to maintain nutrition by means of a well balanced, high vitamin diet. In order to provide rest, sedatives may be required. Small amounts of relatively powerful preparations will be needed. The skin must be protected—with frequent sponging, cleansing, and powdering. Silk is preferred to wool next to the body. Silk or cotton gloves and socks will help to control the constant irritation from rubbing.

Of the greatest importance is ultraviolet. In one report, 36 victims were exposed to a sun lamp. Repeated treatments, each of longer duration than normal, were sufficient to bring on tanning of the entire body. Altho vitamin B had been tried without beneficial results, larger doses—as much as 5,000 units of B1 [thiamin chloride]—were administered. This material was injected into the muscles twice a week for a half month. In some cases improvement was striking, with gain in weight and disappearance of the lesions.

We must not forget the value of good nursing and a nutritious diet. In extreme instances it may be necessary to feed thru a nasal tube or a small catheter introduced directly into the stomach. Mixtures of milk, eggs, and cod liver oil are advised. In addition, iron is of value as are extracts of liver.

As coverings for the skin, dilute solutions of aluminum acetate or normal salt are used. Dressings may be soaked in either chemical and allowed to remain in contact with the involved areas as long as they stay moist. Removal is followed by dusting with cornstarch or camphorated talcum powder.

Fortunately, under this intensive program, fatalities are now rare—particularly if the sufferer can be cared for at home where every attention may be given. While we are not dealing with a common affliction, nevertheless, it occurs with sufficient frequency to demand early recognition and prompt treatment.

NOT HEARTACHE.

I. P. writes: I have an ache near my heart. An electrocardiogram showed nothing abnormal. I am 29 years old and very nervous. What could be the cause?

REPLY.

Probably a mild arthritis or intercostal neuralgia. A simple sedative, prescribed by your physician, will help. Generous feedings of vitamin B complex also are suggested.

WHITE LIDS.

B. N. writes: What causes the eyelids to turn white?

REPLY.

In the skin malady, vitiligo, the lids—in whole or in part—may lose their pigment. In consequence, the affected areas appear bleached. An article on this subject appeared March 1, 1941.

LEGISLATIVE REAPPORTIONMENT.

Chicago, March 20.—I agree heartily with your editorial of March 19 on congressional reapportionment; but doesn't the same argument apply even more strongly to senatorial apportionment? I haven't the exact population but will use precincts as a guide in the following senatorial districts: 1, 2, 15, 17, 27, and 29—a total of six districts—have a total of 299 precincts, while district 25 alone has 602. Is there no leadership in the senate or house that will move to wipe out this scandal by introducing a bill for a senatorial reapportionment in the state of Illinois? CHAS. W. VAIL.

AID TO BRITAIN.

Omaha, Neb., March 14.—Here's an idea for settling this aid to Britain problem by which I believe this country, for once in our history, would get the best of the deal.

Give the United States navy, all our planes, all our guns, all our tanks, and all our ships to Great Britain but insist that when the English take them all they also must take about 60 senators, about 200 congressmen, five or six cabinet members, the entire Committee to Aid America by Helping the Allies, Dorothy Thompson, Sidney Hillman, Mayor La Guardia, Wendell Willkie, President Conant, Ambassador Winant and his attendant Cohen, all the "Union Now" committee, and Barney Baruch.

But unless England will take the men and women I mentioned, then no deal. It should be all or nothing. And then we could begin rebuilding America.

C. O. HODGES.

NOTE TO A POISONER.

Chicago, March 20.—To you, resident of Rogers Park, who choose such a brutal method of killing an animal, I write this to let you know that you have succeeded.

I wonder, have you ever seen an animal die from ground glass, have you ever watched him, helpless, with an ache in your heart and a little prayer on your lips, that maybe by some strange miracle he would not die? Have you ever held him in your lap and watched those slowly glazing eyes look beseechingly up to you to fix this strange malady as you had his cut foot or his sore ear?

A little gray cat wearing a tan collar with a merry tinkling bell and which always answered to the name of Mr. Grump, died today, leaving a heart broken mistress, who wonders why they don't line people like you up against a wall and give you a dose of your own medicine. JUNE E. HILL.

THANKS FROM MR. HARRISON.

Chicago, March 21.—Please accept the thanks of this office of the internal revenue service for the splendid publicity given its appeals for early filing of income tax schedules. It helped our field service immeasurably. More important still, however, was the indirect aid to the public itself. Without the help of the Chicago papers the jam in the final days would have rendered our force and the public helpless.

CARTER H. HARRISON,
Collector of Internal Revenue.

A THEORY OF THE CLASS SYSTEM.

Mount Vernon, Ill., March 17.—There seems to be a great deal of confusion in the American mind today regarding the real lines of battle in this war. Some of it has been planted there deliberately, but most of it arises from the names and nationalities involved in reports of the conflict. In my opinion the national aspects of this war are negligible. The real battle is between the middle class and the so-called upper and lower classes. By middle class I mean those people who believe in Christianity as a way of life rather than as an organization, who believe that human rights are property rights and that the ownership of property implies an obligation to humanity, and who believe that hard work, both mental and manual, is honorable and desirable so long as it contributes to the supplying of healthy human wants.

The lower class, which is historically in a majority, differs from this middle class mostly in that they lack imagination. They are perfectly fine individuals except that they are concerned chiefly with satisfying their own wants for the immediate present.

Those in the upper class are not necessarily those who have a great deal of wealth. Traditionally they may have had great wealth and the popular conception of them as a class would make this their chief distinguishing characteristic. This is a fallacy. The elite, or upper class, is made up of people who do not work with their hands or to any great extent with their hearts. They are dominated by their intellects and in turn believe that intellect is enough to make them the natural rulers of the world. In America they may not own much property individually but they control vast areas of the economy and great numbers of society. If they do acquire property it is largely thru inheritance or as a result of the control they exercise over the organization of other people's wealth. In this class are politicians, labor leaders, novelists, governmental appointees, a large percentage of school teachers and college professors, and a too large percentage of ministers and priests. Also in this class are certain of the captains of industry and a great many of the heads of financial institutions who have lost touch with reality in a world of production curves, indices and trends.

Reviewing the last eight years of our national life we see the members of this elite, intellectual, upper class steadily taking over every position of political and economic power in the United States. Thus we fell into the trend that developed long ago in Europe. We have witnessed the organization of the propertyless class by this intellectual aristocracy into a solid voting block that has swept tradition, common sense and common decency before it.

In order to carry out your newly adopted platform "Save Our Republic" it will be necessary to arouse the middle class American public to the point where they will realize that our real danger is from the introverted and soft handed elite who are in control today. Our partial or complete participation in this European war is deliberately designed less to defeat certain European dictators than to complete the counterrevolution and destroy the middle class republic established in 1776. DAVID C. ARTHURS.

JUST CAMPAIGN TALK.

Chicago, March 18.—A recent news item reported that Wendell L. Willkie has been thinking about going out on what he calls a "crusade" against the anti-war group. It is a matter of interest to consider the words of Mr. Willkie when he spoke at Cleveland on Oct. 2, 1940: "The American people do not want war. They have no idea whatever of joining in any conflict whether on the Atlantic or the Pacific. They are determined to keep America at peace. In this determination I stand with them; I am for keeping out of war. I am for peace for America . . . We must not rashly move. Any man who involves us in the risk of war while we are thus unprepared betrays his country." LEON ARNOLD MULLER.

AN ARGUMENT FOR PREADJUDICATION.

Chicago, March 19.—We see much in the papers about collection of taxes in Chicago. How can the local tax raising agencies expect to have the confidence of the taxpaying public when a system exists under which the county treasurer collects taxes that have been declared by the state Supreme court to be illegal?

TAXPAYER.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

ESTATE ASSETS.

Chicago Heights, Illinois, March 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Would you kindly advise what would be the proper procedure in the following case:

All the property [real and personal] of a man who died in 1927 was held in joint tenancy with his wife, with the exception of a tract of land in the state of Alabama. There are three children, all of age and married. The wife is still living. There was no othe. will and so no disposition has ever been made of the Alabama land.

1. What must be done to clear the title of the above mentioned property?

In case of the death of the widow before this title has been cleared [2] would her will have any effect upon the disposition of this property; that is, [3] could she request or direct in her will that the property be sold at auction or private sale immediately following her death?

4. If a man dies, supposedly without leaving a will, and then several years later will turned up, how would that affect a case like the one mentioned in the previous sentences? F. W.

1. Technically probate would be necessary in order to produce a readily salable title, but in view of the time that has elapsed, it seems probable that a purchaser could be found who would be satisfied with affidavits.

2. Her will would have effect only on her share.

3. See 2.

4. In general, the will would be effective on such facts. We assume that there has been no probate.

Test Your Horse Sense

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 25.

1. Which one of the following is not a breed of cattle?
Hereford Poland China Angus Guernsey.
2. This year Easter Sunday falls on March 30 April 6 April 13 April 20.

4. The process of opening oysters is usually referred to as Cracking Shucking Shelling Husking.
5. The duties of a moderator would most nearly conform to those of a Director Treasurer Sergeant at Arms Chairman.
6. This problem tests your visual memory of the map of North America. In traveling by water from Chicago to Montreal, you would pass thru the following lakes. Indicate the order in which you would traverse these lakes. You deserve one point for each correct judgment.

H. A. DE VRY DIES WHILE BOWLING; MOVIE PIONEER

Heart Ailment Is Fatal to Equipment Maker.

Herman A. De Vry, a pioneer in the use of motion pictures for educational purposes and the inventor or manufacturer of a number of the devices which developed the motion picture industry, died of a heart attack yesterday while bowling at 1501 Berwyn avenue.

Herman A. De Vry.

Mr. De Vry, founder and president of the De Vry corporation, which manufactures motion picture equipment for use all over the world, was 65 years old. His home was at 839 Hutchinson street.

Born in Germany, Mr. De Vry came to the United States as a boy. He began his Chicago career as a builder of contrivances for the illusions of Harry Kellar, Howard Thurston, and other stage magicians. Then he became a camera man.

Original Capital $125.

Interested in the growing field of motion pictures, he turned to invention and manufacture in 1913 with a capital of $125.

His first invention, a portable motion picture projector which could be carried in a suitcase, proved a success. In 1914 he founded the De Vry corporation, which was bought by the Q. R. S. player piano roll company in 1929. He then formed Herman A. De Vry, Inc., which became the De Vry corporation again when he bought the Q. R. S. company in 1932.

For many years Mr. De Vry was a close friend of Dr. Lee De Forest, inventor of the tube credited with making radio transmission of the voice possible. Mr. De Vry claimed credit for manufacturing the first talking movie equipment with plans drawn by Dr. De Forest. The manufacturer also was credited by business associates with making the first sound pictures for use in the home.

Formed Training Group.

He believed that the greatest service of the motion pictures was in the field of visual education. For that reason he founded De Forest Training, Inc., which trains thousands of students in the United States and Canada for technical work in electricity, motion pictures, radio, and television with the aid of motion pictures used in their homes as textbooks.

His widow, Mrs. Ida De Vry, survives with two sons, William C. and Edward B. De Vry, and a daughter, Mrs. Emma Carlson. Mr. De Vry was a cousin of the late Cy De Vry, director of the Lincoln park zoo for many years.

Grabs a Bandit and Shouts for Help; Cries Are Wasted

Lelitia Severini, 45 years old, grabbed one of two bandits who had unsuccessfully searched for money in his grocery store at 1147 North Damen avenue last night. Using the bandit as a shield Severini prevented the other robber, who was armed, from shooting. For five minutes he shouted for help, the bandit struggled, and the other bandit looked on. Then, winded, Severini relaxed his hold. The robbers fled, firing once at the grocery man but missing him. He told police he had $12 hidden in the store.

Cuff Notes.

Gertrude Stein writes a Chicago friend from France that she and Alice B. Toklas are getting along all right, but that everybody lives two days a week "honnêtement" and the rest of the week by contraband. . . . A Lake Forest woman used her new spring hat as a flower centerpiece for her luncheon table the other day, and not long ago a tiny flowered headpiece appeared as garnishing on a cocktail tray. . . . Chicago Artist-Photographer Raphael MacPherson has taken portraits of Somerset Maugham, which the author has autographed. Proceeds of the sale go to British war relief. . . . Twelve year old Edith Allard, who danced at the Chicago Dance council's young artists' concert Friday evening, has a piece in the current number of Dance magazine. "To me, ballet is not a separate part of life tucked away in its own corner. Everything I see or do is connected with it," she writes. "When I hear music I always think of the dance I could do to it. The poems and stories I read seem to arrange themselves into ballets. . . . I want to be a ballerina and dance until I can no longer dance." . . . An amusing number on the young artists' concert program was Bernardine Oates' dance to one of Hilaire Belloc's Cautionary Tales, with Bentley Stone as narrator—the tale of Jim, who was eaten by the lion.

Lipstick Color.

A colored butler named Wraxell in a Lake Forest home was sent into a fashionable beauty salon in town to get a lipstick for his employer.

"The shade I want is called 'It's You,'" she told him. "Can you remember that?"

He left her, murmuring over and over "It's you." Entering the beauty shop he approached the desk, asked for a lipstick, and named the shade he wanted.

"'Tis Me," he said importantly.

To an Old Miniature.

(Diane de Poitiers, 1499-1566.)

A pale, proud brow in a cloud of hair,
A red, red mouth for a stolen kiss;
Truly a countenance passing fair,
Yet a listening look that is asking this:
"In the dark of the moon, will my true love wait
With a coach and four at the postern gate?"
O, white, white throat in its nest of lace!
The skill of an artist without a name
Has caught forever such transient grace
With faded paint in a gilded frame.
And I wonder still . . . did your true love wait?
Did you meet him there by the postern gate?

—Claire Goodell.

Etiquet.

[By a lad in a west side grammar school.]

Etiquet is one of the most important things you are judged by. When sitting at the table, when reaching for the bread, it is not mannerly to block out some one else who wants the bread. It is not nice to beat up your mother when she will not give you a dime for a mazagine. When walking with a girl it is not good manners to ask a girl if she wants to go to a show and then ask if she has enough money. After eating salmon, buy a piece of bubble gum to make your mouth smell like roses.

Good Morning!

AH-H-H! A thriller, no less!

But what those French producers need is a course in continuity. They certainly can tangle a story up and DO in the case of "Personal Column." However—

DON'T let above chill comments keep you away from the picture. Because it IS interesting, it IS marvelously well acted and it DOES keep its secret to the last.

The action revolves around the mysterious disappearance of eleven beautiful girls. . . . Adrienne, a charming and clever taxi dancer and friend of one of the missing maidens is commandeered by the police to help in solving the mystery of the disappearance. [Far too clever and charming, this girl, to have remained long at taxi-ing!]

Adrienne answers "personals" in person and finds herself in strange and alarming situations. . . . At last the trail ends—and the quarry is trapped. . . . S.U.R.P.R.I.S.E!

Marie Dea [funny little bob-tailed name!] is a lady Hollywood should do something about. She's strikingly beautiful in a poised and quiet way and is a natural, convincing and magnetic actress. "Personal Column" is her first and only picture to date. It was made just before the outbreak of the war.

Maurice Chevalier, in a rôle different from any he has played, acquits himself delightfully. Older, but still easy to look at and smooth as silk. Outstanding support is contributed by Pierre Renoir, as his partner in a talent scouting and placing business, Eric von Stroheim as a mad dressmaker, and Andre Brunot as a police inspector. . . .

If episodes had been more skilfully blended, "Personal Column" would be a wow, and as it stands it's well worth your time and money.

See you soon.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., March 23.—Sunday—Interesting folk at the Frank Willards' dinner last night, among them one John Arnold, a slender, quiet hawk faced man with grayish hair who is the kind you should hear about in the movies but never do. He's head of the camera department at MGM and the virtually permanent president of the American Society of Cinematographers. You ask him how he began shooting movies and his story, if you keep prodding him, is fascinating. He was an engineer from Columbia university and he went to work for Thomas A. Edison. One day Edison asked him to work on something new—the motion picture. It was Arnold who shot "The Great Train Robbery." His latest picture was "The Big Parade"—and what a span that is! He has developed countless camera improvements; holds the patent on the "blimp" sound proofing of the modern instrument; developed a boom on which a camera can be lifted into tight corners, and operated by remote control.

Monday—A day at the desk, but lunch at Mike Romanoff's with Mike and Bill Hebert. Mike recalls the time he was in jail—"in residence," he puts it—in Grasse, above the Riviera, and how he went down to Cannes when he got out. Flat broke, he met a newspaper man he knew—a newspaper man who was on his honeymoon. This chap asked if he needed money, but Mike airily said, O, no. He hadn't a sou, but he wouldn't tap a honeymooner who probably needed all his cash. Mike was quite disgusted with himself later when he learned the newspaper man's bride was a millionairess . . . In the evening to the Screen Actors' guild party, a fine one and well run.

Tuesday—To take women guests and my wife on a tour of the Metro plant, where 10 pictures are shooting. The ladies meet Clark Gable and all but swoon. They twitter and chirp and flutter long afterward. Later we see Joan Crawford and I don't get a chance to put on an act because Miss Crawford teases me, and we go on the "Washington Melodrama" set where Sammy Lee is directing some beauties in a swimming scene.

Wednesday—Back to M.-G.-M. to chin with Billy Grady and to hear tales of the Shamrock A. C.—a group including Spencer Tracy, James Cagney, Frank McHugh, Pat O'Brien, and George Murphy, which meets every Friday night to sit and gab at Chasen's. . . . To Brittenham's for a lunch for Louis Ruppel, visiting CBS executive, and Louis is sporting a broken wrist. He got it in Palm Springs. . . . In the evening to see "That Hamilton Woman," and Vivien Leigh, who tops her "Gone with the Wind" performance, is the most beautiful thing I ever saw on the screen. She outplays her husband, Laurence Olivier.

Thursday—R.-K.-O., to watch Ginger Rogers and Burgess Meredith in a love scene. . . . An afternoon at the desk, and dinner with Director Garson Kanin and to a projection room to see the three reels of "Tom, Dick, and Harry" which have been completed.

Friday—Some golf, and very pleased to win some of my money back. Dinner with Ted and Carol Dempster Larsen, and to the Warner plant to see "The Sea Wolf." The world première is being held tonight aboard the S. S. America en route to San Francisco, and as I sit in a hard chair I hope everybody is seasick. "The Sea Wolf" is strong meat—about as brutal a picture as you'll find, and I think it will sell. John Garfield's performance stands out, and Sol Polito's camera magic is top-notch.

Saturday—A morning at the desk, and hear that the day Laurence Olivier joined the RAF Vivien Leigh prepared to sign on with an ambulance corps. . . . One of Merle Oberon's three new leading men in "Illusions," which her husband, Alexander Korda, is about to produce, will be Joseph Cotten.

Stores Ready to Cure Spring Clothes Fever

BY REA SEEGER.

At last the season officially has caught up with Chicago store and shop windows. They have been filled for days with spring clothes, collections and showings that would make the most susceptible victim mortgage the old penthouse for money to spend.

Never in fashion history have there been so many good looking suits available! Distinctive suits, with fitted streamlines that only an American can wear. There are countless simple two piece affairs redeemed from too much puritanical plainness with such tricky accents as stitched down bowknots, pockets in pairs or in trios, soft gathered backlines defined with a tie belt and dressmaker details such as panel of tucks, unusual bits of draping and plenty of buttons of the decorative variety.

Quilted and padded coats are new and warm enough to wear without furs. Printed or plain silks are cleverly quilted in a unbulky manner, some in straight coolie type, others cinched in at the waistline with just a hint of a flare in the skirt. Ensembles beloved of all shoppers have staged a spring revival with many new ideas—for instance, an extremely simple dress worn under a plaited coat, the sleeves plaited and the skirt plaited.

Thin wool coats teamed with companion dresses not only feature prints with solid color wool, but two-tone dresses carefully matched with two-tone coats. The most practical duets are the ones that have the long coat lined with a monotone blending color, so that such a coat can be worn with anything else.

Taffeta worked smoothly with crêpe is one of the newest finds in the shops. Particularly effective in snappy afternoon dresses, this fashion merger promises much in the way of spring swish under wool or fur coat. It's fun to have spring clothes fever these days.

SYNOPSIS.

Don Barron, young American newspaper man, is sent to rescue Paul Darmal, financier and opponent of the Nazis. His plan is to let Darmal take his place on a Swedish boat and flee Germany, but Barron's plan is learned by the Nazis and he is left in Germany to figure some other way of getting Darmal out. Managing to escape from the secret service agents who have been shadowing him, Barron reaches Darmal's hiding place only to find that Darmal has had to flee to another refuge. But he meets Twysden, the local agent in charge of the rescue, and Darmal's stepdaughter, Hertha, and granddaughter, Sigi. He mistrusts Sigi, as he has previously seen her with Puttaemus, local Nazi official, but he is forced to accept her offer to take him and the others to Darmal's new hiding place. The hiding place turns out to be a lodge on Puttaemus' estate on the Baltic, and her plan is to have Barron, Twysden, and Hertha make a getaway with Darmal to Denmark in Puttaemus' yacht while she is attending a party with Puttaemus. But they are betrayed somehow and an armed force is waiting at the docks. By a ruse of wrecking their car they throw the pursuers off their track and finally do make a getaway on the waiting yacht and land safely in Denmark, but Sigi fails to meet them as she has promised. A great influx of Nazis into Denmark worries Barron, and when Hertha sees Schmarz, Puttaemus' jackal and rival, she almost faints. Barron sees Sigi from his hotel window and decides to follow her. They reach a pier warehouse, and he is set upon by Nazis and taken before Schmarz and is locked up to be taken back to Germany. Sigi smuggles him a note and tools with which to escape. He has to jump from the prison window into water where Sigi is waiting in a boat.

INSTALMENT XIX.

BICYCLING.

"All those German tourists—" Don Barron scowled. "They came over to do the job?"

"They and the Nazified Danes—the fifth column," Sigi said.

"It's the new technique—bloodless conquest. . . . They seize all the public services and paralyze the country. They used to be called traitors who opened the gates of the city."

"Will the Danes fight?"

"God help them if they do—cut off, without leadership, disorganized, they'll stand no chance against blitzkrieg . . . but I don't think they will."

"And Otto Schmarz, is he a leader of these glorious legions?" he asked bitterly.

For a moment she was silent, then she said:

"I don't know why Schmarz is here. He's a leader—he would have powers. But I didn't expect him to be here."

"Perhaps," he said acidly. "Puttaemus sent him."

"I don't think so. Puttaemus does not trust him, he's not likely to give him a chance of gaining credit. No, I don't like his being here."

"Nor I. What of Darmal, Twysden—and Hertha."

"Are you sure—without me?"

"I saw to it," she said evenly. "I went to the 'Gefion' myself and persuaded them it was best. Knust is with them. They are traveling to Odense, to wait for us there. . . . I said we were coming after them."

Her cool assurance stung him.

"Didn't they want some explanation?"

"Plenty. Twysden was all for taking the town apart with his own hands to find you. He didn't believe that you—and I—were working on a scheme for their safety."

"He wouldn't. Thanks all the same for saving my face . . . and the others?"

"Hertha was sure she would never see you again at Odense, or elsewhere."

"Nice of her to miss me," he said, answering the mockery in her tone. "And by the way, why Odense? Why don't they go straight on to Esbjerg with a chance of getting the English boat?"

"Because that may be dangerous. The Nazis will occupy all ports immediately and we don't want grandfather to walk straight into their hands; as, of course, they'll expect him to do if there's another betrayal behind this. At Odense he can hide in a house belonging to friends of Knust, until we can see what can be done. Odense is a good center, too. He can escape either to Sweden or to the mainland, whichever is best."

"You talk of betrayal—do you think it's happened again?"

"I don't know. I don't like Otto Schmarz being here and it's wisest not to take risks."

"What did Darmal say to all this?"

"He was suspicious, too. He's more than ever inclined to double back to Germany to try the Dutch, Belgian, or Swiss frontiers. But I made Hertha see that Odense was the most sensible place at the moment, and since she knows me she persuaded the others to swallow their suspicions."

"You'll admit they have grounds for them," he said pointedly.

"They have them certainly," she said coolly. "You, too. I can almost feel dark doubt burning in your mind."

"And are prepared to parry it?"

"No," she said evenly. "Merely to point out that this act of helping you escape should suffice for the moment."

"You think that will satisfy me?"

"Not in the least. But you're intelligent enough not to demand the impossible."

"Which suggests that others aren't—Twysden, for instance?"

"A trying young man. If it weren't for his devotion to Hertha, he'd be impossible."

"He's in love with Hertha, isn't he?" Barron asked.

"All men are," she said evenly. "You, too."

He was so startled by her shrewd insight that he answered tartly:

"Wrong. I'm in love with you."

She was oddly silent, for her. That is, her retort did not come pat:

"Not so good a comeback. You loathe me as a soulless, probably treacherous, little gold digger."

The cool audacity of her scorn was like a whiplash.

"You even sound proud of it," he said.

"I am," she said, and her tone had such an assurance that he had nothing more to say.

So silently they slid along the dark surface of the river thru the night.

As Don Barron, his dressing finished, made his way to the stern of the boat to relieve Sigi at the scull, he asked:

"Where are we going?"

"A little way yet, I'll tell you," she said, and dropped onto the thwart.

Barron was about to make an angry retort, but remembering how water carries voices, clamped his lips hard, and took to dogged sculling.

Hjammerborg, with its ghost glare of searchlights, dropped out of sight round a curve, and high banks began to shut them in, making it difficult to see landmarks in the dark. Sigi, too, seemed at a loss, for after a long time she asked:

"Can you see any sign of a water tank? A round one on high steel legs."

"We passed it 10 minutes ago," he told her.

"O—how could I have missed it?" she cried, startled out of her aplomb.

"Because you are sitting and I am standing and can see above the bank—also because this is the time when mystery is more a hindrance than help. I turn back, I take it?"

"Yes, we land there," she answered with unusual meekness.

She produced a torch to get them ashore, and the same light discovered two bicycles leaning against the legs of the tank.

"That's the best Knust could do for us," she apologized. "The Nazis had taken every car in Hjammerborg."

"Very much in keeping with our present get up," he said, noting not only his own, but her own rough costume in the torchlight. "We'll pass as normal Danes fulfilling their national habit."

He strapped his sodden clothes to the carrier and asked:

"And what now?"

"There is a road beyond this field, we follow it to a small port called Klintdrup, where we ought to get a car."

"How far?"

"Not more than 25 kilometers."

"Can you make it? You sound tired," he asked, for not only was her voice weary, but her feet had dragged as she came from the boat.

"I hope so," she faltered. "Only I haven't cycled for a good many years."

"Hadn't we better stop and rest a bit, then?"

"No! No!" she cried. "We've got to get to Klintdrup before the Nazis if we can."

She was plucky enough, but Don Barron hadn't much hope. The wobbling of her wheels told their story, and altho she ground at it grimly, she was soon dragging behind. He edged close to her, putting his arm round her shoulder, and she did not protest, which was unlike her. Yet even with this help the growing drag on his arm told how the strain was telling upon her.

Cars began to plague them. The first came roaring out of Hjammerborg at such a speed that they had only time to tumble into a ditch and duck out of sight as it hurled by.

"Nazi, I think," Don Barron said as he lifted the bikes onto the road again, "from its attitude toward other cumberers of the earth."

"Yes—I saw their rifles," she answered wearily.

Patience Aids Slow Progress of Guidance

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

One of the habits that it is important for you to develop in yourself in order to relax and "take it easy" is the habit of patience.

For example: Your runabout little boy reaches out for a fragile object, and a sharp slap on the hands may stop him. Your little girl may be doing what you consider naughty and a sound spank may stop her at once.

But this way of coping with the behavior that you want to change, while it may give you immediate results, doesn't get you anywhere in the long run, and it certainly isn't teaching your child anything.

To be sure, your slap or your spank may stop him, but it is an outside stopping. It isn't teaching him to do or not to do something from within, by the exercise of his own will or initiative.

Parents, themselves, testify to the ineffectualness of this sort of thing. "I spank him but it does no good," or "I slap her hands and scold her, and while she stops doing that particular thing, she immediately gets into some other mischief," are examples of what I mean. It is impatience as well as lack of understanding that gives rise to these summary measures.

So I want to emphasize strenuously the value of patience, and by patience I don't mean a tight lipped, restrain your temper by main force sort of patience, but a serene attitude which embodies some thing different from the ordinary idea of patience.

Mrs. Herbert F. Perkins Gives Musical Today.

Because so few colleges have the same spring holiday dates, no young people have been invited to a musical Mrs. Herbert F. Perkins is giving at the Fortnightly this afternoon for her granddaughter, Miss Helen Knight, who is a sophomore at Smith college. Miss Knight's mother, Mrs. Francis M. Knight of Highland Park, and some of Mrs. Perkins' friends, including Mrs. William Field, Mrs. Ralph C. Otis, Mrs. John L. Shortall, and Mrs. George J. Farnsworth, will assist at the party.

The American Friends of China will learn of the "Northwest Frontier of China" when they meet for tea at 4 o'clock today, at the Tavern club. The colored motion picture film they will see was taken last year by Rey Scott on the ancient silk route to Turkestan, 3,500 miles inland.

The Rev. Jerome Z. Jacobsen, S. J., will speak on "Our Spanish American Neighbors" at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Ambassador West hotel. His lecture is one of the Chapel guild of the Cenacle's Lenten series of lectures.

Mrs. Michael Cudahy and Mrs. George W. Jones, vice chairman of the Seeing Eye Membership Enrollment drive, will hold meetings today in preparation for the opening of the enrollment on April 18. The Chicago Committee of the See Eye expects to enroll 1,000 new members this year for the Seeing Eye school at Morristown, N. J., where dogs are trained to guide the blind. Mrs. Wood Tullis is chairman of the drive.

Universal Day—Stress health and diet. If you have spring fever, check your health habits.

April—Those who are in a four-year will find that April gives them that expansive feeling, but don't let it be that "expensive" feeling. Hold down the spending, but take advantage of contacts. Reorganize your business or yourself a little this month. It will be a good time to check on your financial status, since this is the year in which you were to save, remember? Maybe you will think that this eight-month is not very generous since it comes in a four-year, but proceed with caution even when you feel like breaking out in a spending spree. It is a good month in which to check over your assets—any stocks or bonds, insurance policies, or resources that aren't in active service.

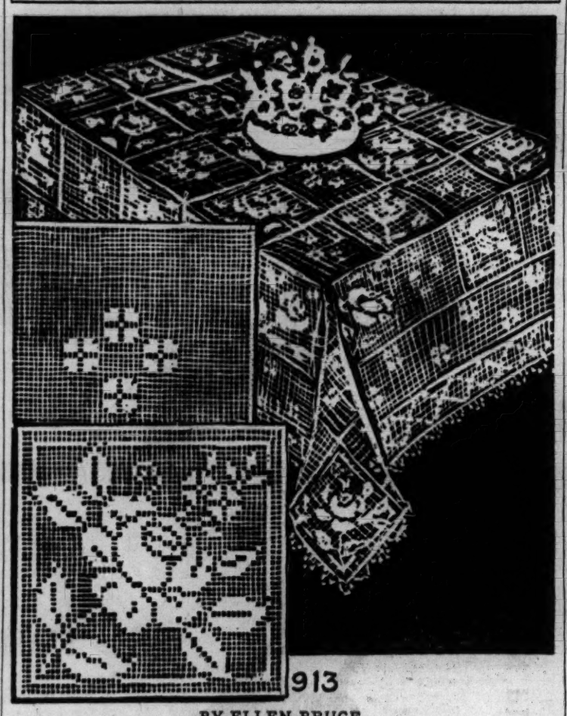
Rose Filet Tablecloth



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A rose design always will be one of the most popular of the filet crochet patterns. In this illustration it is shown cleverly designed to create a beautiful cloth which will delight women who enjoy exquisite table appointments. The entire cloth is worked in squares and assembled when a sufficient number is completed.

For instructions in crocheting the rose filet tablecloth, No. 913, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

It's a wise homemaker who includes cooked dried fruits in her menu frequently. They're particularly suitable as a breakfast fruit or a luncheon dessert. A compote of cooked dried fruits flavored with lemon and sweetened only slightly, if at all, is a dessert valuable to children as well as adults.

Plain cooked prunes are better for youngsters than prune pie, but grown-ups usually like this kind of dessert immoderately.

PRUNE SOUR CREAM PIE.
[9 inch pie].

Pastry for one crust
2 cups uncooked prunes
1½ cups sour cream
2 tablespoons dark molasses
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Wash and pit prunes. Put thru food chopper. Mix flour with sugar, then combine sour cream, molasses, unbeaten eggs, salt, sugar, and spice and beat enough to mix thoroly. Add prunes and beat well. Pour into pastry-lined pie pan, and bake for 10 minutes at 475 degrees. Reduce temperature to 350 degrees and continue baking 20 to 25 minutes, or until filling is "set."

Dried fruits make very attractive hors d'oeuvres, too, when dressed up with cream cheese in this manner:

DRIED FRUIT HORS D'OEUVRES.

Rinse two dozen dried figs, prunes, apricot or peach halves in warm water, wrap in a towel, and steam about 15 minutes. Cut prunes down the side, remove pits, and flatten slightly, or cut them in half. Clip stems from figs and cut in half. Rub skins from peaches and cut in halves. Combine two 3-ounce packages of cream cheese with ¼ cup mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon prepared mustard, and ¼ teaspoon garlic salt. Fill fruits and sprinkle with paprika, or garnish with thin slices of crisp radish, olive, or cucumber.

Raisins, another dried fruit, probably are better in cookies than in any other form. Children like these peanut butter-raisin-oatmeal cookies, and so do their elders.

PEANUT BUTTER, OATMEAL, AND RAISIN COOKIES.
[About 6 dozen].

2 cups seedless raisins
1 cup butter
2 cups sugar
½ cup peanut butter
3 eggs
¼ cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 teaspoons vanilla
3½ cups quick cooking oatmeal

Pour boiling water over raisins and let stand 5 minutes. Drain and dry on a towel. Cream butter and sugar thoroly, add peanut butter, and mix well. Add beaten eggs. Add milk, then flour sifted with salt, soda, and spice. Beat thoroly. Add vanilla, oatmeal and raisins, and mix. Drop batter by spoonfuls about 2 inches apart, on an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes.

Blouses for Spring Suits

WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSES.

Blouses can make or break the success of your suit. Softly tailored ones usually are the best choices, since they go with virtually every type of spring suit outfit. Today's two blouse patterns will meet with favor, because they are feminine, altho tailored, and may be made easily by even amateur seamstresses. The monogram for the shirtwaist topper is created with pattern No. 11206, available for 10 cents extra.

Style No. 3086 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inch bust measurements.

Style No. 3180 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the spring Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

One little gadget we'd like to see on every woman's dressing table is the powder brush. Once you get the habit of using one you'll wonder how you ever got your face made up without it. Its use can make all the difference between a suave and a sloppy makeup.

These little brushes aren't expensive; they come in many shapes and sizes but they have one common characteristic. The bristles are extremely soft and set close together. When you use them your powder is smoothed down perfectly and your makeup actually lasts longer.

It's a great mistake to rub powder into the skin. When you apply makeup see that the skin is clean and just a little moist; if it's dry and taut you need a foundation.

When you get to the powdering stage use plenty. Fluff it on in great quantities even tho you do look, temporarily, like a circus clown. Don't rub. Coat the skin well, allow the thick coat to remain for a minute or two, and then set your puff aside and take up your soft brush. You'll brush off the surplus and the streaks, you can eliminate the possibility of sharp dividing lines between the powdered face and the unpowdered neck, and you can get every single grain off your brows and lashes. Your face powder will blend better with the texture of your skin and your whole makeup job will have a fine professional looking finish that will do you proud beneath your new off the face hat.

These soft, furry little brushes are every bit as useful to the average woman as they are to the woman of the theater. Buy one and you'll never part with it.

Magic Strains of Theremin Charm Hearers

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The theremin is an electronic musical instrument which consists of a small box and two arms. To play it, one makes passes in the air in its immediate vicinity.

The procedure so strongly suggests the intervention of occult powers that a thereminist would do well to avoid communities which retain antiwitchcraft laws on their books. Chicago is not such a community, and Lucie Bigelow Rosen's theremin recital at the Great Northern yesterday left her answerable to no court but that constituted by her audience.

This audience seemed to find the wonder of the performance itself, plus the flexibility and wide dynamic range of Miss Rosen's playing, sufficient to offset certain other things—such as the enormous difficulty of preserving the pitch.

The character and variety of the instrument's tone made an engrossing study. Sometimes it emitted sounds amazingly like the voice of a human being—especially of a human being in distress. The tone was best when it was purely instrumental. Sometimes it suggested a violin, sometimes a woodwind instrument.

Much of the standard répertoire can be adapted to the theremin, as was proved by Miss Rosen's use of the music of Beethoven, Brahms, and other composers who wrote along without any prevision of this instrument's peculiarities.

The assisting artist yesterday was the pianist, Frank Chatterton, who provided accompaniments and solos.

The youthful Civic orchestra keeps on learning the hardest pieces. In Orchestra hall yesterday Hans Lange led his charges thru the Orchestral Fragments [second series] from Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloé." The performance was not only technically adequate, but it succeeded over and above that in catching some of the sheen of the music and in building up the final climax in virtuoso style. The program contained also music by Gluck, Mozart, d'Indy, and Borowski.

The Chicago National Youth Administration symphony orchestra, Irwin Fischer, conductor, offered music of Mozart, Haydn, DeLamarter, Goldmark, and Smetana in the Goodman theater last night. The performance had the same lift and spontaneity that marked the initial program of this three concert spring series two weeks ago. The audience had grown by leaps and bounds, and almost filled the theater last night. David Chausow, a violinist as young as the orchestra itself, played the solo part of the Goldmark A Minor Concerto with great fluency and good rhythmic feeling.

The Catholic Casino Male chorus, Adalbert Huguelet, director, gave its 68th annual concert in the Civic theater last night. The group's staple tone is soft, round, rich, and warm, but it is capable of great volume when the music demands it. The program consisted of a great variety of sacred and secular songs. Margery Mayer, a contralto known for her work in concert, radio, and opera, was the assisting artist. Her accompaniments were played by Goldie Golub, the chorus' by Gregory Konold.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

So much has been written on the iniquity of finessing that it now is a case of "give the dog a bad name, etc." Actually, of course, a finesse is like every other play. It may be either well or badly calculated. Take the hand below, for example. Declarer was quite right in his judgment that a finesse was unavoidable. The trouble was that he took said finesse the wrong way!

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding was eminently correct. South, it will be observed, first mentioned his spade suit with a simple "one-over-one," but later, when North merely kept the bidding open with one no trump, South jumped all the way to game. It would have been incorrect for South to bid four spades directly over one diamond. His possession of the K-Q of clubs made his hand, as a whole, slightly too strong for such a preëmptive response. His sequence of bids, first one spade, then four spades, admirably described his holding.

If West had been clairvoyant, he could have defeated the contract on the spot by opening a heart, but I need scarcely say that his actual choice of the club jack cannot fairly be criticized. East won with the club ace and, for want of a better return, led back a low club, declarer winning. The singleton diamond now was led and taken with the ace, after which the diamond queen was returned for a "ruffing finesse." Declarer's theory, of course, was that if East covered this, he [declarer] would ruff and eventually get a discard of a heart on dummy's diamond jack, thereby insuring his contract. Under many conditions, this is the correct method of finessing when the closed hand has a singleton and the dummy has the A-Q-J, or an equivalent combination. Unfortunately, however, the play did not fit this particular occasion. East did not have the diamond king to put on the queen, and when declarer passed the trick, discarding a low heart, West pounced with his king and promptly laid down the heart queen. Thereupon, two heart losers became unavoidable, and the sound contract was down one.

Declarer had failed signally to appreciate the point of this hand. His only danger lay in the heart suit. He could well afford to lose a diamond trick if, by so doing, he established two of dummy's diamonds for discards. He could not, however, afford to lose said diamond trick to West, because with West on lead, the heart king was in a highly vulnerable position. Thus it goes without saying that the diamond finesse should have been taken to dummy's jack. If East had the king, what of it! East could not attack the heart king, nor could he put West on lead for that attack. On the other hand, if the diamond finesse held, a heart could be discarded on the diamond ace, and then declarer would not have to worry about his contract.

If the hand had been slightly different, with the heart king held by South instead of North, declarer's method of handling the diamond suit would have been absolutely correct, because in that case East would be the "danger hand" which would have to be kept off the lead.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23.—The White Sox used pretty brusque treatment today against their ambitious Chicago neighbors, the Cubs. In achieving a 9 to 0 victory in the third match of the 16 game spring series, the south siders smacked out nine hits off Charley Root in four innings, rapped out five more against Tot Pressnell in the next four innings, and against Ray Campbell in the ninth Dario Lodigiani led off with a homer and George Dickey followed with a triple. Then there were some outs, the first of which scored Dickey with the ninth run.

The Cub batsmen were in a contrasting mood. In three innings of pitching by Eddie Smith there were singles by Bill Nicholson and Root. In three innings against Jack Hallett, Stan Hack made a double. Dom Dallessandro made a double off John Rigney in the seventh, and the Cubs loaded the bases in the eighth on two walks and their fifth hit, a single by Hack. In the ninth Dallessandro grounded to Bill Knockerbocker, Bill Herman executed his third strikeout, and Lou Stringer fanned to end the game.

Kreevich Has a Big Day.

Lodigiani had a single before hitting his homer and Mike Kreevich knocked two doubles and a single his first three times at bat. Knickerbocker made two singles and a double. Luke Appling had a double and a triple, and Dickey a single and a triple.

The outcome gave the Sox a record of six victories in nine exhibition games. The Cubs have lost four straight to the Philadelphia Athletics, won two from the Pirates, and after winning the opener with the Sox without benefit of an earned run have dropped two straight to their Chicago rivals.

The Sox were leading, 1 to 0, when Smith quit pitching at the end of the Cub third, and by the time Hallett had taken over at the start of the Cub fourth Dykes' boys were ahead, 5 to 0. When Hallett finished his stint, covering the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings, the Sox were leading, 7 to 0. So Rigney, who had been held as an anchor man against a possible ninth inning flareup such as frightened the Sox in yesterday's contest, faced a soft touch.

Root Yields Five Runs.

The first five scores were made off Root in two instalments, one after two were out in the second inning, on a single by Knickerbocker and Kreevich's first double, and four in the fourth inning. The big cluster was accomplished on a double by Appling, a single by Taft Wright, a single by Knickerbocker, another double by Kreevich, and a single by Lodigiani.

Joe Kuhel opened against Pressnell at the start of the fifth with a single and scored on a triple by Appling. The seventh Sox run was acquired in the sixth on Kreevich's single, an error by Pressnell, Hallett's sacrifice, and Lodigiani's infield out.

CATHOLIC PREP CHAMPIONS DRAW WISCONSIN FIVE

Fort Wayne Is Paired with Superior Wednesday.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, Ind., 1939 and 1940 national Catholic prep basketball champion, will be greeted by Cathedral High of Superior, Wis., in the opening program of the 19th annual meet in Loyola university gymnasium Wednesday night. Superior, one of the five Wisconsin quintets in the meet, was drawn against the Hoosiers in the first round pairings announced by tournament officials yesterday.

The game will be the second on the program, starting at 8:45 o'clock. The honor of opening the tournament will go to St. George of Evanston, north section champion of the Chicago Catholic league, and Central Catholic of Hammond, Ind., which will meet at 7:30 o'clock. The Indian team of Holy Rosary Mission, S. D., will oppose Marquette University high of Milwaukee, in the last game at 10 o'clock.

Leo to Play Thursday.

Leo, Chicago champion for the last two seasons, and which fell before Fort Wayne in the semi-finals last year, will wait until 2:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon before beginning its title drive. The south siders, winners in 34 of 36 contests, will be opposed by Northeast Catholic of Philadelphia, one of the high scoring eastern contenders.

Downstate Illinois representatives —Spalding of Peoria and Trinity of Bloomington—will appear on the Thursday evening program. Spalding's opponent will be Cretin of St. Paul, Minn. Trinity will meet St. Simon Stock of New York City, a squad which showed considerable strength in the 1940 tournament.

The other Indian quintet in the meet, St. Francis Mission, S. D., which lost in the semi-finals last year to St. Michael's of Santa Fe, N. M., also will play Thursday night, meeting Central Catholic of Wheeling, W. Va. The Indians will be led by Ben Tibbitts, fed headed forward who was an all tournament selection last March.

Ceremonies Arranged.

Reitz Memorial of Evansville, which this season succeeded Fort Wayne as Indiana state champion, drew one of the western quintets, Abbey of Canon City, Colo., as its first round opponent Thursday morning. Catholic of Huntington, Ind., will be faced by an eastern team, Power Memorial of New York City, at 3:30 o'clock Thursday.

Officials also announced the selection of 32 girls from Chicago Catholic high schools who will lead the teams onto the Loyola court in the opening ceremonies. Coach Spike Webb of the New York Golden Glovers installed himself as traffic cop yesterday afternoon in the doorway of the Towers gym, where his boxers are training. Here he's barring five Chicago Golden Glovers who sought to get a look in advance at their foes. Left to right are Phil Brown, Bob Burns, Marty Dames, Morris Corona, Dick Menchaca. The teams fight Wednesday night in the Stadium.

RANGERS BEAT RED WINGS, 3-1; SERIES EVENED

New York, March 23 (AP).—The New York Rangers got back into the Stanley cup battle tonight by defeating the Detroit Red Wings, 3 to 1, before 14,019 in Madison Square Garden.

The victory squared the best of three games series between the Red Wings, who finished third during the National Hockey league season, and the fourth place Rangers at one game each. The deciding contest will be played Tuesday in Detroit, where the Wings won the opener, 2 to 1.

Eleven penalties were handed out in the first period by Referee Micky Ion, who tooted his whistle for the slightest rules' infractions. Three of them went to Jimmy Orlando, Detroit's "bad man," and the third paved the way for the Rangers' opening goal. Lineups:

New York's Fighters Hit Too Hard in Drills to Suit Coach

BY BILL MURTHA.

New York's Golden Glovers set a new high mark in their training grind in the Chicago Towers gymnasium yesterday by whizzing thru three fast rounds each. At the culmination of the session Coach Spike Webb was confident his charges will be in superb physical condition when they clash with the Chicago squad in the Stadium Wednesday night. The seven champions in classes from flyweight to light heavy all are within the weight limit. Alternates and sub novices still are battling for the remaining berths, with competition keenest in the heavyweight division, which has two places open because Henry Allen of Philadelphia, the New York champion, was unable to make the western trip.

McGowan Keeps Punching.

Diogenes Leon, called the greatest flyweight since the days of Frankie Genero by the New York coaches, was particularly impressive in yesterday's workout. He clashed with Lee Booker for a snappy round, then wound up with two more against Gus Levine, Harlem's veteran Golden Gloves aspirant.

Baby-faced Lester McGowan, Buffalo's able bantamweight, also showed he has what it takes as he battled Charley Davis to a standstill in an exciting three round bout. Davis, the featherweight champion, was extended all the way. The Buffalo boxer stabbed at Davis with a skilful left and drove his heavier sparring mate back with well timed rights to head and body.

Johnny Green, Charley Burley, Berlie Lanier, and Lou Brooks also went thru their paces at a fast clip. In fact, they put so much weight behind their punches Coach Webb had to caution the lads to slow down. Webb doesn't want to risk last minute injuries.

It's a Neck and Neck Race.

John Vetcher, Lloyd Williams, and Big Tim Still, Newark heavyweight, are still neck and neck in the race for the two vacancies in that class. Vetcher has shown vast improvement during the last two days and stands an excellent chance of being chosen on New York's team.

Chicago's fighters, greatly interested in the abilities of their opponents attempted to get a look at the New York team as it worked out yesterday. Vigilant Coach Webb, however, met his visitors at the gymnasium door, turning them away with the remark: "You'll see enough in the Stadium Wednesday night."

Bill Rogell Named Pilot of Lancaster, Pa., Club

Lancaster, Pa., March 23 (AP).—Bill Rogell, formerly of the Detroit Tigers, who ended his big league career last year with the Chicago Cubs, was appointed manager of the Lancaster Interstate league team today.

BOUTS WILL GO ON WEDNESDAY IN NEW ORDER

175 Pounders Follow Flyweights.

Officials on Air

COACHES and officials of the New York and Chicago Golden Gloves squads which meet in the annual intercity bouts in Chicago Stadium Wednesday will be heard tonight over station W-G-N at 10:15 o'clock. The speakers will include Coaches Spike Webb of New York and Johnny Behr of Chicago; William Fritzinger, director of the New York Daily News tournament, and Arch Ward, sports editor of The Tribune and director of the Chicago tournament.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

New York and Chicago Golden Gloves boxers will lash out with final fast sessions of sparring today to point up for Wednesday's intercity matches in the Stadium. After the last blow falls this afternoon, there will follow a precarious 48 hours during which the coaches and trainers will endeavor to keep the boys at fighting edge as they wait the renewal of this spectacular rivalry.

The bouts in this year's intercity battle will be run off in a different order than those of other years in order to pack even greater variety and interest into the show. Golden Gloves fans have become accustomed to seeing the programs start with the flyweights and move right thru to the heavyweights. This time the divisions will be shuffled up.

Light Heavies Are Second.

The flyweights will start as usual, but immediately thereafter the light heavyweights will go on. Then will come the 126 pounders and the first half of the show will be concluded with the welterweights. Immediately after the intermission the 135 pound boys will take over the ring, after which the heavyweights will be presented. Then will come the bantams. The program will reach its end with the middleweights in action.

It is believed the fans will like this change of pace thruout the show. The contrast between the speed of the little fellows and the hitting power of the big boys will be presented more dramatically.

Last year Chicago's strength was concentrated in the heavier classes. That gave the New Yorkers a great sweep thru the first half of the engagement during which Chicago could win only two of the eight bouts. The tide turned with the welterweights, however, and the Chicago team launched the most brilliantly sustained rally in Golden Gloves history to earn a tie.

Chicago Strong in Lighter Classes.

This year, however, some of Chicago's most skilful and experienced fighters are in the lighter classes. Conspicuous among these are Jack Haley of Kansas City and Dick Menchaca of Fort Worth, who hold the featherweight and bantamweight titles, respectively.

Menchaca will come up at a strategic point on the program when the tide of battle may swing finally one way or the other. His bout with Lester McGowan, the aggressive Irish lad from Buffalo, may develop into one of the most brilliant and significant of the evening.

Followers of the Chicago team are confident that there will be no repetition this year of that early runaway. With Harold Dade, Hezzie Williams, and Haley appearing in the first three classes to fight, the boys are conceded an excellent chance of getting to the intermission at least on even terms with their eastern rivals.

Chicago Welters Dangerous.

It has not yet been decided which of the welterweights will box in the No. 1 spot, but regardless of whether the choice falls to Morris Corona, Robert Satterfield, Richard Ryan or Bob Burns, Chicago is sure to have

THE WARNING BUZZER SOUNDS!

THOMAS MEETS TROTTER TONIGHT IN RETURN BOUT

Match with Franklin Ahead if Lou Wins.

Lou Thomas, Indianapolis heavyweight, and Orlando Trotter, former Illinois Athletic club amateur light heavyweight champion, who dealt Thomas the only defeat marring his 1941 record, will meet in a return bout of 10 rounds tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Trotter, who weighs 177 pounds, 25 less than Thomas, scored a close eight round decision in an earlier meeting with his 23 year old opponent from Indiana. If Lou obtains revenge he will be rewarded with a match against Lem Franklin, 1937 International Golden Gloves heavyweight title holder, who pounded out a 10 round victory over Abe Simon in Chicago Stadium two years ago.

Billy Seward, Ingomar, Mont., lightweight, who has lost only two contests during a two year campaign, will attempt to add Al Dorlac, newcomer from St. Louis, to his string of victims in a five round semi-windup. Promoter Irving Schoenwald yesterday substituted Tito Taylor, south side welterweight, for Bud Wisdom of St. Louis in a four round event against Jimmy Pierce of Milwaukee. Jack Conway, lightweight, and Ray Simmons, light heavyweight, also of St. Louis, will appear in two additional matches of four rounds, the former against Matt Milovitch, and Simmons against Johnny Trotter. Johnny is a brother of Orlando.

Oki Shikina will oppose Abie Coleman in a one hour bout heading the wrestling show tonight in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. . . . The Stadium matchmaker yesterday denied a report that Harvey Dubs, Detroit lightweight, would meet Nick Castiglione in an eight round contest in the west side arena April 4. Dubs failed to go thru with a scheduled match with Castiglione in Detroit last Friday because of a hand injury, suffered in his triumph over Gene Ward previously. The April 4 card is headed by Billy Conn and Gunnar Barlund. .

New York and Chicago End Drills Today

a powerful representation in this division.

In checking a possible early rout such as happened in Madison Square Garden, Dade will have to do some lively hitting to beat Diogenes Leon, the Puerto Rican flyweight who was one of the standouts of the eastern tournament. Williams, who has won all his bouts this year without encountering a bit of trouble, will be called upon to deliver against Louis Brooks of Philadelphia. Haley, who cut down one opponent after another with clean knockouts in the Golden Gloves tournament, will go up against Charley Davis, a particularly clever boxer.

Burley a Tough Southpaw.

Whoever is chosen as the welterweight representative will be called upon to cope with the southpaw tactics and hard body punching of Charley Burley of Philadelphia.

Backing up Dade, Williams and Haley, Chicago has concentrated strength for the No. 2 positions in each weight class. The four available welterweights are so evenly balanced that Coach Johnny Behr has had to go into repeated huddles with his assistants, Fred Caserio, Paddy Kane, and Bob Howard, in an effort to decide whom to risk.

Once the Chicago boys can get by that jinx first half, they expect to go breezing along. And right at the finish, Chicago will have an ace in the hole—Charley Hayes, the Irish boy from Detroit who dominated the middleweights by such a great margin thruout the recent tournament.

Spartas' Title Hopes Blasted by Gallatin, 3-1

BY OFFSIDE.

The Spartas' hopes of retaining the national soccer championship were blasted yesterday when they lost, 3 to 1, to the Gallatin-Dunlevy team of Gallatin, Pa., in the national western semi-final in the Sparta stadium. Sparkling defense play by Charley Badogne in the Gallatin goal featured the visitors' victory.

The Spartas scored early in the game when Jimmy MacDermott, after being tripped, counted on his penalty shot. Gallatin tied it up four minutes later when Pete Roman tipped the ball over the line; 25 minutes of the second half had elapsed when a free kick taken by Carl Bergini was hooked into the net by Roman for his second goal. With only five minutes to play, Charley Lyons ran thru the Sparta defense to score on a rebound. Lineup:

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

PRICE CEILING IS ESTABLISHED FOR ALUMINUM

Iron and Steel Scrap May Be Controled.

Washington, D. C., March 23 (AP).—The defense commission today fixed prices for scrap and secondary aluminum and said that similar action was "imminent" for iron, steel, and zinc scrap.

Leon Henderson.

Announcing a price schedule for aluminum scrap, Leon Henderson, director of the price stabilization division, asserted:

"The powers of the government to place compulsory orders, to condemn or requisition properties, to issue priorities, and to use other powers to carry out the arms program will be exerted to the utmost against any person whom we find to be disregarding these selling prices."

Second Price Fixing.

Today's action was the second time the commission has established a price ceiling; the first occasion was on Feb. 17 when prices were pegged for second-hand machine tools. Aluminum and machine tools already have been put under a rationing system by the Office of Production Management.

Henderson said "serious inflationary pressures" existed in the scrap and secondary aluminum market, and that reports had been received of aluminum scrap sold at 32 cents a pound, almost double the price of the virgin metal.

In saying that schedules were imminent for iron, steel, and zinc scrap, Henderson declared that "apparently unwarranted price increases in various other industries" had occurred.

Ready to Enforce Controls.

"Should these movements continue," he said, "price ceilings will have to be established in these industries. We hope this action will not be necessary, but if it is we are ready to enforce reasonable price limits."

The price schedule for aluminum scrap becomes effective immediately. The scale varies for different types of scrap with a top of 14½ cents a pound for pure clips and cables. The top price for 98 per cent pure aluminum ingots is 17 cents a pound.

Two price ceilings are established, the first applying to the original sale of aluminum scrap from the maker to any other person, and the second to any sale thereafter by any dealer or other person to a smelter, foundry man, fabricator, or other dealer.

The prices, on an f. o. b. basis, will allow a dealer a margin of 1½ cents a pound on clippings, borings, and turnings and one cent on other types of scrap, Henderson said.

The maximum prices for secondary aluminum ingot apply to any sale or purchase by a person. That schedule, Henderson said, left a spread of 3 to 4 cents a pound for the processors, costs and profits.

Maximum Price List.

The maximum prices for scrap follow [in cents]:

Grade—	[Per pound.] Sale by maker.	Sale by dealer.
Pure clips and cable	13	14½
Segregated alloy sheet clips	12	12½
Old sheet and utensils	12	13½
Mixed sheet clips	11	12½
Cast and forged scrap; old-new	11	12
Borings and turnings other than No. 12	10	11½
No. 12 type borings and turn'gs	9½	11
Pistons free of struts	11½	12½
Pistons with struts	9½	10½

The schedule for secondary ingot—98 per cent pure aluminum ingot, 17c; silicon alloys, 17c. Deoxidizing aluminum; Notch bar, granulated ingot or shot, 16½c [2c extra allowed for special shares]; piston alloys, 16½c; No. 12 aluminum, 16c.

EXPANDING INDUSTRY MAY FACE SHORTAGE OF POWER, SAYS FCC

Washington, D. C., March 23 (AP).—The Federal Power commission reported to congress today that "careful planning" was necessary to avert an early power shortage such as caused lightless nights during the 1918 war boom in manufacturing.

In an effort to assure an adequate and dependable supply of electricity to meet armament requirements, the agency said, utilities and the commission are investigating the feasibility of a giant tieup of high capacity transmission lines thruout the industrial east.

A report from the commerce department said that construction of new factories in the first three months of 1941 had surpassed any similar period in American history.

Lowell J. Chawner, department economist, estimated that if the present rate continued the year's expenditures for plant and equipment would total $3,500,000,000.

The commission asked for more rigid control over interstate pipe lines.

WARNS FEDERAL RULE OF UNIONS MAY BE NEEDED

New York, March 23 [Special].—A warning that the federal government may eventually have to order compulsory incorporation of labor unions and make them report to a central body similar to the Securities and Exchange commission was given today by Henry Mannix, attorney. He charged that "labor unions are operating without any restraint except the criminal statutes."

"Something must be done about that condition," he said. "Why don't the top leaders of labor do something about it, and why does the government do nothing."

NEW INCREASE IN INCOME TAX RATE PREDICTED

Income tax exemptions will be further lowered and the income tax rate will be raised to meet the costs of rearmament and British aid, speakers predicted yesterday on the University of Chicago Round Table radio program.

Leo M. Cherne, executive secretary of the Research Institute of America, said, "The tax rate will probably be raised from 4 to 6 per cent. Married couples' exemptions will probably be lowered to $1,500 and those of single persons to $600. Exemptions for children may be reduced from $400 to $200."

Cherne agreed with Harold G. Moulton, president of Brookings institution, and Sumner Slichter, Harvard university economist, that the government's program may be little felt this year by the average citizen either in rising costs of goods or shortages. But they warned of higher prices and shortages in labor and in the food supply next year.

MARCH SALES OF WAREHOUSE STEEL GROWING

Cleveland, O., March 23 (AP).—March steel sales of manufacturers and warehouse distributors are running ahead of February, which set a record high volume, the magazine Steel said today.

"More steelmakers have been taking salesmen off the road for fear of overselling, tho the industry is still divided on the wisdom of the policy, particularly since salesmen have the double role of selling and maintaining good will," the review said.

"The situation becomes outwardly calmer as consumers become reconciled to scarcity and belated deliveries, and many civilian projects are abandoned until more favorable times. Several groups planning to set up new companies, such as warehouses or metal working concerns, have given up plans because of policy of steelmakers to take on no new customers."

CELANESE MERGER.

Is it true that Celanese Corporation of America is going to acquire the Celluloid corporation? I have been planning to buy some Celanese stock and would like a report on the company.—E. L.

Answer: Merger of the Celluloid corporation with its parent company, the Celanese Corporation of America, will be voted upon by stockholders of both companies on April 9 and 10. Celanese holds 51 per cent of Celluloid's common stock.

Celanese is the largest domestic producer of cellulose acetate yarns used in clothing and other fabrics. The company's headquarters is in New York City. Celluloid manufactures plastics from cellulose acetate, bought from Celanese, and from nitro-cellulose.

Capitalization of Celanese corporation consists of $24,900,000 in funded debt; 164,818 shares of 7 per cent cumulative prior preferred stock of $100 par value; 148,179 shares of 7 per cent participating preferred stock of $100 par value, and 1,112,788 shares of no par common stock.

Net profit of the company registered an all-time high in 1940, exceeding slightly the previous peak in 1939. The earnings record in recent years follows:

	Net income.	Earned per com. share.	Dividends per com. share
1936	$4,406,698	$2.58	$1.80
1937	4,461,227	2.04	2.25
1938	2,479,749	.26	....
1939	6,374,101	3.67	.50
1940	6,376,898	*3.39	1.25

*There was a larger number of shares outstanding at the end of 1940 than 1939. A stock dividend of 1-40th share was paid in 1939 and 1-12th a share in 1940.

Dividends on the preferred shares have been disbursed regularly. Participating dividends on the participating preferred were paid from 1928 thru 1930 and from 1936 thru 1940.

A common dividend of 50 cents a share, and a participating dividend of $2.82 in addition to a semiannual payment of $3.50 a share on the participating preferred will be paid March 31 to holders of record March 14.

BACHELOR'S FATHER.

If a worker, who has paid social security taxes since 1937 without interruption, dies and leaves only an aged father, would the father be entitled to any social security benefits?—K. W.

Answer: If the father was over 65 years old and entirely dependent on his son's support at the time of the latter's death, he would be entitled to social security benefits based on the son's wage record. Forms for computing estimated social security benefits may be obtained by sending a stamped, addressed envelope to the Investors' Guide.

AIR LINE GETS A BIG SHARE OF TRAVEL REVENUE

The growth of air line operations to the point where the passenger revenues of a single system were exceeded by only six of the nation's largest railroads was disclosed yesterday in the annual report of American Airlines, Inc.

C. R. Smith, president of the line, said the company set a new record in 1940—and one for the industry as well—in carrying $70,930 passengers and realizing revenues of $15,898,794.

Altho far below the top railroad passenger revenue figure listed in the report—the Pennsylvania's $87,950,700—American Airlines' total was above those of some of the large rail systems operating from Chicago. The railroads, however, exceeded the air line in number of passengers carried.

Offer Increased Facilities.

Smith told company shareholders that commercial air lines, notwithstanding the "must" orders for military aircraft, will be able to offer increased transportation facilities this year.

"The air lines increased their fleets substantially in 1940," he said. "Additional aircraft are being delivered and the fleets will be substantially augmented by summer."

This expansion, he said, will be accomplished despite the fact the lines have cooperated in postponing delivery of some equipment to accelerate the shipment of fighting ships.

The company had 1940 net profit of $1,858,549, largest on record, compared with $1,467,751 in 1939. Last year's federal taxes rose to $559,400 from $330,300 the year before.

Packard Dividend Indicated.

Packard Motor Car company may resume dividends this year, after a lapse since 1937, when 25 cents a share was paid, the company's annual report indicated. The large increase in dollar volume incident to manufacturing of marine and aircraft engines is the basis for the expectation.

In 1940 Packard had net income of $774,147 or slightly more than 5 cents a share on its stock, compared with $545,867 or 4 cents a share in 1939.

Anaconda Copper Mining and subsidiaries reported 1940 net income of $35,052,699, compared with $20,236,552 in 1939. The 1940 earnings equaled $4.04 a share, against $2.33 a share the preceding year.

Cornelius F. Kelley, chairman, and James R. Robbins, president, told stockholders in the annual report that the industry in 1940 operated at a new high record, probably 10 per cent above 1939. Domestic production, they said, was at the maximum rate obtainable, with copper "at the relatively low price of 12 cents a pound delivered Connecticut valley.

U. S. STEEL HEAD WARNS ON ILLS OF WAR TRADE

Reports Company's Armament Work.

War periods bring only transitory profits and result in long continued, serious disturbances and enduring increases in cost, Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, said yesterday in his annual report.

Irving S. Olds.

"Except in national emergencies, such as the present, United States Steel's policy has been primarily to manufacture and sell steel products for normal, peacetime needs. But today, in its endeavor to cooperate fully with the government in the national armament program, the corporation is proud to be able to say that every call made upon its facilities has been met speedily and completely."

Reports on Armament Work.

Olds summarized the armament work of the corporation's operating subsidiaries as follows: Building destroyers and cruisers; developing additional plate facilities to meet the requirements of the naval and military expansion programs; producing shell forgings, unloaded shells and bombs of various sizes; sending large quantities of steel to Great Britain and Canada; sending a steady flow of steel to manufactures thruout the nation who have taken army and navy contracts; its ocean steamers are bringing to the country strategic materials used in rearmament.

The fall of most of the steel producing nations of Europe has left the United States as the one nation able to export steel in large quantities, he said. War demands from abroad and armament at home did not directly absorb the major part of the corporation's steel output, but did add materially to the total.

Ingot Capacity Increased.

Olds said that the capacity of the corporation's steel producing facilities in 1940 was 27,795,000 tons of steel ingots and 19,379,200 tons of rolled and finished steel products for sale. Shipments of rolled and finished steel totaled 15,013,749 tons for the year. Ingot capacity as of January, 1941, was increased to 29,720,000 tons.

The report mentioned facilities completed during 1940 and those under way at the plants of the various operating facilities. Improvements under way in the big plants of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation in South Chicago and Gary include: Improving blast furnaces for increased output, construction of new electric furnaces for increased stainless steel and alloy production, construction of new equipment to increase cold reduced tin plate capacity, and other modernization.

With respect to the corporation's customers in this country the report said that the largest consumer group consisted of the processing and intermediate manufacturing industries.

The report disclosed only a minor revision in the preliminary earnings report for 1940. The revised net income was $102,211,282, equal to $8.84 a share on the common stock, against $41,119,934, or $1.83 a share in 1939.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

(Map on back page.)

Crop Plans Altered.

March 23, 1941.

THE shift from corn to legume silage on the Du Page county farm has had an astounding effect on crop plans for the coming year. More and more acreage is being put into hay and meadow land to fill the silos and less emphasis is being placed on grain crops.

In 1939 the farm had 113 acres in forage crops. This year 217.5 acres will be used for hay and pasture. In 1939 there were 253 acres in grain and hay crops for harvest, while this year 329.5 acres will be put into production. The farm covers 1,000 acres. Of this, 60 acres will be put in corn, 52 acres in oats, and 217.5 in hay land. There were no small grains seeded last fall, and for the first time in many years there will not be a wheat crop.

Hybrid Corn Studied.

The farm manager estimates his 60 acres of corn will produce a minimum of 3,000 bushels, as he will plant nothing but hybrid strains. There will be no silage corn planted. The feeding steers and dairy cows will continue with legume and grass silage. Last year the farm had great success with the new silage, as the animals found it palatable and needed little urging to eat it.

The farm fields are fairly small and cut up, as woods and farmsteads take up 679.5 of the 1,000 acres. The meadow lands are lightly timbered so there is plenty of shade for the animals. Some of the woods are open enough for grazing. There is some heavy timber.

Some of the fields were sown to alfalfa and clover last year and the workers are anxious for spring thaws to arrive so they can find out how the fields survived the winter. The farm manager fears that some may have been thrown out by freezing and thawing during the early winter.

On several of the fields that were in oats last year a combine was used which threw the straw back on the ground. Altho a baller went over the ground later and picked up the straw, there is a danger that the straw that was missed has smothered out the seedings of grasses and legumes. Warm weather will disclose whether any damage was done.

Disk Oats Field.

Ground to be put in oats will be disked heavily, as the farm manager believes in working his soil thoroly to prepare a good seed bed. After disking, the ground will be dragged or rolled to level it. After the oats are seeded the legume seeds will be broadcast and disked lightly with a drag following the disk.

The first cuttings of hay, which are likely to be rank and woody, will be put into the silo. Part of the second cutting will also go for silage while the rest will be put in the barn for hay. The general practice at the farm is to take only two cuttings of hay a year from the fields. Three cuttings are made only if the weather has been wet and the hay grows rapidly. Leaving a good cover on the field during the winter often saves the crop from being heaved out.

Seed requirements for the farm this year will include 10 bushels of hybrid seed corn, 117 bushels of seed oats, and approximately 1,040 pounds of legume seed.

The extensive use of pasture on the farm plays a large part in the crop rotation, and in giving the soil a rest.

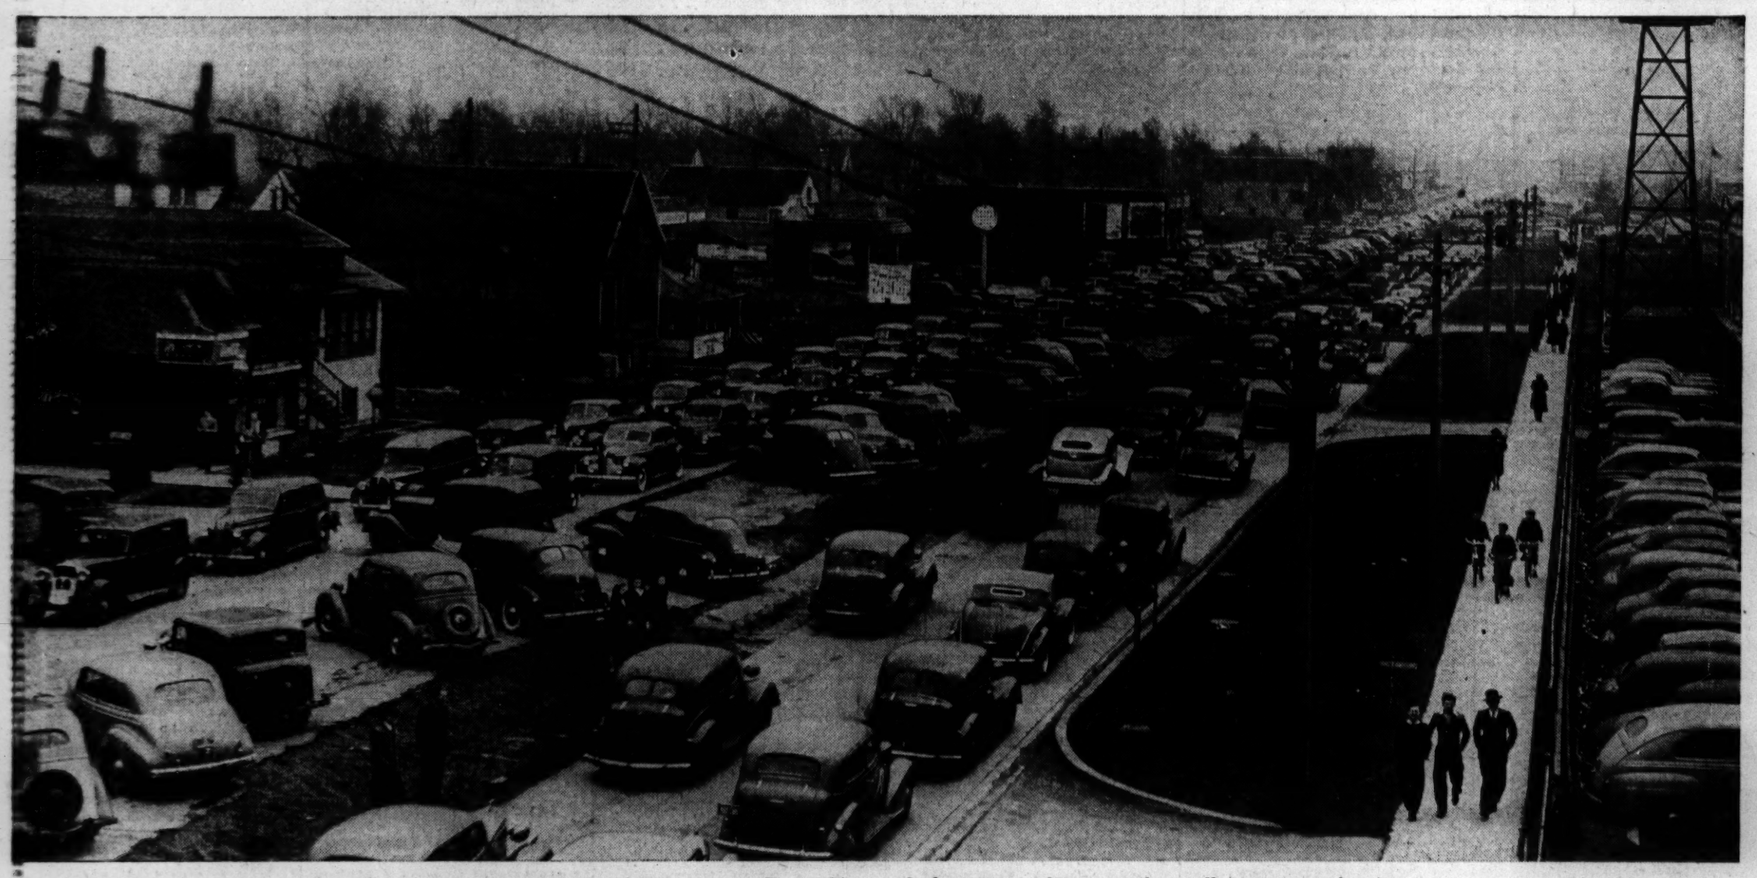
Illinois Soldiers Visit Civil War Battlefield—Largest Orangutan in Nation Reaches Brookfield Zoo



A bright Sunday afternoon brought this stream of cars to Cicero avenue. From this point at the United Airlines hangar the jam extended as far south as 95th street, and north to Ogden avenue. Heavy traffic on all routes near the city was reported as Chicagoans went to the country for a breath of early spring.
